UNITED STATES in CONGRESS assembled,
Princeton, August 26, 1783.

According to order, General Washington attended, and being introduced by two Members, the President addressed him as follows:

SIR,

CONGRESS feel particular pleasure in seeing your Excellency, and in congratulating you on the success of a war in which you have acted so conspicuous a part.

It has been the singular happiness of the United States, that during a war so long, so dangerous, and so important, Providence has been graciously pleased to preserve the life of a General, who has merited and possessed the uninterrupted confidence and affection of his fellow-citizens. In other nations many have performed services for which they have deserved and received the thanks of the public; but to you, Sir, peculiar praise is due, your services have been essential in acquiring and establishing the freedom and independence of your country; they deserve the grateful acknowledgments of a free and independent nation; those acknowledgments Congress have the satisfaction of expressing to your Excellency.

Hostilities have now ceased, but your country still needs your services; she wishes to avail herself of your talents in forming the arrangements which will be necessary for her in the time of peace; for this reason your attendance at Congress has been requested. A Committee is appointed to confer with your Excellency, and to receive your assistance in preparing and digesting plans relative to those important objects.

To which his EXCELLENCY made the following Reply.

Mr. PRESIDENT,

I AM too sensible of the honorable reception I have now experienced, not to be penetrated with the deepest feelings of gratitude.

Notwithstanding Congress appear to estimate the value of my life beyond any services I have been able to render the United States, yet I must be permitted to consider the wisdom and unanimity of our national councils, the firmness of our citizens, and the patience and bravery of our troops, which have produced so happy a termination of the war, as the most conspicuous effect of the Divine interposition, and the surest prelage of our future happiness.

Highly gratified by the favorable sentiments which Congress are pleased to express of my past conduct, and amply rewarded by the confidence and affection of my fellow-citizens, I cannot hesitate to contribute my best endeavours towards the establishment of the national security in whatever manner the sovereign power may think proper to direct, until the ratification of the definitive treaty of peace, or the final evacuation of our country by the British forces; after either of which events I shall ask permission to retire to the peaceful shade of private life.

Perhaps, Sir, no occasion may offer more suitable than the present to express my humble thanks to God, and by grateful acknowledgments to my country, for the great and uniform support I have received in every vicissitude of fortune, and for the many distinguished honors which Congress have been pleased to confer upon me in the course of the war.

CHARLES THOMSON, Secretary.

STATE OF PENNSYLVANIA.
IN GENERAL ASSEMBLY,
MONDAY, AUGUST 25, 1783, A. M.

AGREEABLE to the order of the day, the house went into the consideration of the report on the subject of national credit, read August 22d instant: Whereupon,

Resolved unanimously, That Mr. Rush, Mr. Whitehill and Mr. Hoge, be a Committee to prepare and bring in a bill conformable to the resolution of Congress of April 18, 1783, inserting a clause for repealing the act, intituled "An act to vest in the Congress of the United States a power to levy duties of five per centum ad valorem, on certain goods and merchandize imported into this Commonwealth, and on prizes and prize goods condemned in the Court of Admiralty of this State, after the first day of May, 1781, and for appropriating the same, passed April 5, 1781."

Resolved unanimously, That the measures Congress have taken in their resolution of the 18th of April last, to support and establish public and national credit, meet with the approbation of this House, and they will appropriate substantial and permanent funds, by taxes or otherwise, for supplying the Continental Treasury with their quota, as assigned in said resolution.

Resolved unanimously, That this House do hereby authorise and direct their Delegates in Congress, or any two of them, to join with the Delegates of the other States in Congress assembled, properly authorised, in revoking and making void so much of the 8th article of Confederation and Perpetual Union between the Thirteen States of America, as is contained in the following words, viz. "All charges of war, and all other expences that shall be incurred for the common defence or general welfare, and allowed by the United States in Congress assembled, shall be defrayed out of a common Treasury, which shall be supplied by the several States, in proportion to the value of all lands within each State granted to or surveyed for any person, as such land and the buildings and improvements thereon shall be estimated, according to such mode as the United States in Congress assembled shall from time to time direct and appoint;" and in place thereof, to substitute the words following, viz.

"All charges of war, and all other expences that have been or shall be incurred for the common defence or general welfare, and allowed by the United States in Congress assembled, except so far as shall be otherwise provided for, shall be defrayed out of the common Treasury, which shall be supplied by the several States, in proportion to the whole number of white and other free citizens and inhabitants of every age, sex and condition, including those bound to servitude for a term of years, and three-fifths of all other persons not comprehended in the foregoing description, except Indians not paying taxes in each State; which number shall be triennally taken and transmitted to the United States in Congress assembled, in such mode as they shall direct and appoint."

On motion ordered, That the Committee on ways and means provide funds for raising the sum of 205,189 dollars, in compliance with the second resolution of the report of the Committee on the subject of national credit, adopted this day.

Extract from the Minutes,
PETER Z. LLOYD, Clerk of the General Assembly.

NEW-JERSEY.

At a meeting of the inhabitants of New-Brunswick and its neighbourhood, on Monday, the 4th day of August instant, AZARIAH DUNHAM, Esq; was appointed Chairman, and the following ADDRESS unanimously agreed to, it was ordered to be signed by the Chairman, and presented to Congress, by a Committee chosen for the purpose.

To the UNITED STATES in CONGRESS assembled.

THE inhabitants of New-Brunswick and its vicinity, feel themselves happy in having an opportunity of addressing Congress in the State of New-Jersey, they congratulate your august body on the glorious termination of a war, which had for its object the rights of mankind, and which has established the independence of the United States of America, and has given them a name and a conspicuous station among the nations of the earth; an æra auspicious and eventful indeed. May internal order, harmony and peace pervade each of the States individually, and all of them in their collective and fœderal capacity.

As Congress have it in contemplation to make choice of a place for their permanent residence, the inhabitants of New-Brunswick and its vicinity beg leave to mention the banks of the Rariton, as being not unworthy of their attention in that point of view; they forbear to describe the place, or to enumerate its advantages; the attachment they feel for the spot on which they live, and particularly the passionate desire they have of being honoured with the presence of Congress might, perhaps, lead to a description too flattering and highly wrought, let the place speak for itself; let impartial men declare its beauties, and point out its defects; your addressers wish to be silent upon the occasion: They cannot, however, resist the impulse of truth, and therefore are constrained to say, that, considering themselves as members of the United States at large, and standing upon continental ground, they sincerely wish that Congress may fix upon the most proper place for their residence, and wherever they fix, the inhabitants of New-Brunswick and its vicinity will ever bear the warmest attachment, the most grateful affection, and the highest respect for the supreme head of the union.

Congress may rest assured, that should the Banks of the Rariton be looked upon as eligible ground, its inhabitants will deem it a distinguishing privilege, and a singular felicity to live within their jurisdiction, and under their immediate government.

By Order of the Meeting.

In answer to which his Excellency the President of Congress was pleased to honor the Committee with the following LETTER, containing the sentiments of Congress thereon.

Princeton, August 16, 1783.

GENTLEMEN,

IN answer to the very respectful address of the inhabitants of New-Brunswick and its vicinity, which you did me the honor of inclosing to my care, I am directed by Congress to inform those respectable citizens, "That Congress with pleasure received their congratulations on the glorious and happy success of the war---are obliged by the affection and respect for the fœderal government expressed in their address, and highly approve their patriotic disposition to promote order, harmony and peace throughout the United States."

The honor of this communication gives me great pleasure, as it is an additional testimony, to the persevering and worthy conduct of my fellow citizens of New-Jersey.

I have the honor to be,
With the most perfect consideration,
Gentlemen,

To the PRINTERS of the PENNSYLVANIA GAZETTE.

GENTLEMEN,

As it must give great pleasure to all true hearted Americans to find that foreigners know and revere the distinguishing talents and merit of our excellent Commander in Chief, I send you the inclosed, that, by inserting it in your paper, you may inform such of your readers as have not seen the Letters of the Abbe Robin, a Chaplain in Count De Rochambeau's army, lately published in this city, under the title of "New Travels, &c." of the just sentiments that writer entertained of our incomparable General. Your's, &c. I. H.

I HAVE seen General WASHINGTON, that most singular Man---the soul and the support of one of the greatest revolutions that has ever happened, or can happen again. I fixed my eyes upon him with that keen attention, which the sight of a great man always inspires.---We naturally entertain a secret hope of discovering, in the features of such illustrious men, some traces of the excellent genius which distinguishes them from and and elevates them above their fellow mortals. Perhaps the exterior of no man was ever better calculated to gratify these expectations, than that of General Washington: He is of a tall and noble stature, well proportioned, a fine, chearful, open countenance, a simple and modest carriage, and his whole mein has something in it that interests the French, the Americans, and even enemies themselves, in his favour. Placed in a military view, at the head of a nation, where each individual has a share in the supreme legislative authority, and where the coercive laws are yet in a great degree destitute of vigour, where the climate and manners can add but little to their energy, where the spirit of party, private interest, slowness, and national indolence slacken, suspend and overthrow the best concerted measures; although so situated, he has found out a method of keeping his troops in the most absolute subordination; making them rivals in praising him; fearing him even when he is silent, and retaining their full confidence in him, after repulses and defeats.---His reputation has at length risen to a most brilliant pitch; and he may now exercise almost unbounded power, without provoking envy, or exciting suspicion. He has ever shown himself superior to fortune, and in the most trying adversity has discovered resources till then unknown; and, as if his abilities only increased and dilated at the prospect of difficulty, he is never better supplied than when he seems destitute of every thing; nor have his arms ever been so fatal to his enemies, as at the very instant when they thought they had crushed him for ever.-----It is his to excite a spirit of heroism and enthusiasm; to gain over the respect and homage of those whose interest it is to refuse it; and to execute his plans and projects by means unknown even to those who are the instruments; he is intrepid in dangers, yet never seeks them but when the good of his country demands it preferring rather to temporize and act upon the defensive, because he knows such a mode of conduct best suits the genius and circumstances of his nation; and that all he and they have to expect depends upon time, fortitude and patience; he is frugal and sober in regard to himself, but profuse in the public cause:----like Peter the Great, he has by defeats conducted his army to victory; and like Fabius, but with fewer resources and more difficulty, he has conquered without frequent battles, and saved his country.

Such are the ideas that rise in the mind at the sight of this great man, in examining the events in which he has had a share, or in listening to those whose duty obliges them to be near his person, and, consequently, can best display his true character.---In all these extensive States, they consider him in the light of a good angel, dispensing peace and happiness around him.-----The Americans, that cool and sedate people, who, in the midst of their most trying difficulties, have attended only to the directions and impulses of plain method and common reason, are roused, animated and inflamed at the very mention of his name; and the first songs that sentiment or gratitude has dictated, have been to celebrate General Washington.

It is uncertain how many men his army consists of exactly: Some say only four or five thousand; but this General has always found means to conceal the real number, even from those who compose it. Sometimes with a few troops he forms a spacious camp, and increases the number of tents; at other times, with a great number, he contracts it to a narrow compass; then again, by detaching them insensibly, the whole camp is nothing more than the mere skeleton and shadow of an army, while the main body is transported to a distant part of the country.

General Washington has rendered Trenton famous to the latest times, by a victory, in which he so happily disclosed the amazing resources of his genius.

The English troops in 1776, being arranged in cantonments, formed a line from Brunswick, on the Raritan, to the Delaware; fourteen or fifteen hundred men were at Trenton, as many at Bordenton, and a third corps of equal strength at Burlington, which is only twenty miles from Philadelphia. General Washington's army, which was every day growing weaker and weaker, left the English in enjoyment of the greatest security, and only two nights freezing weather would have enabled them to cross the Delaware on the ice, and take possession of Philadelphia. In this critical situation of affairs the Congress retired to Baltimore, in Maryland; and America, with dread and consternation, beheld the fatal moment approaching, when she had reason to apprehend her chains were to be rivetted on her for ever.

General Washington, not finding himself in a situation to make head against the united force of the enemy, formed a design of attacking them separately: In haste he collected the militia of Pennsylvania, New-Jersey, &c. and divided the whole into three bodies; two could not pass the Delaware for ice; but the party under the direction of the General himself was more fortunate; for he crossed the river, and, after a smart conflict, took above nine hundred Hessians prisoners. A short time after, having kindled fires through his camp, and left one man to take care of each, he marched round about, and came upon the rear of the enemy, surprized them once more near Princeton, and obliged another considerable body to surrender their arms.

The English were then, in their turn, forced to retire, and put themselves on the defensive.

BOSTON, August 14.

After an arduous but successful contest for the dearest rights of human nature---A contest that has cost us the best blood of our country, and many millions of our treasure, is there a bosom amongst us, that pretends to virtue and patriotism, that feels not the warmest glow of gratitude to Heaven, for that interposition, which in the darkest hours of our distress, in a manner little short of miracle, has saved us from impending ruin, and conducted us through difficulties which seemed altogether insurmountable, to that envied situation in which we now attract the notice of the world. Circumstanced as we at present are, it behoves us to act with the greatest circumspection, and be careful that we do not, by giving way to the dictates of passion, lose the great object for which we have been contending, or in the riot of enjoyment, wantonly sport away a jewel that requires a jealous and assiduous care to preserve. The wealth of our country, and the lives of our fellow-citizens have been spent profusely, but not unprofitably, if they have purchased for us a government of wise and virtuous laws, a government under which the subject may sit down with security, and say, "If I offend not the laws of my country, who is there that shall make me afraid?"

It is now the indispensible duty of every man who has his country's welfare at heart, to contribute all that lies in his power to strengthen those bands of civil fellowship, which are intended to promote the prosperity of the community, and by a due obedience to the authority legally established, increase that harmony, without which a civil society cannot long exist. Whoever acts in opposition to this doctrine, whatever specious pretences he may assign for his conduct, and however ardent his zeal may appear, cannot seriously mean well to his country, or, if he means well, the consequences of his conduct are counter to his intention; for death is not more certain as the lot of man, than tyranny as the end of licentiousness.

It is an observation which our enemies have frequently made, that our governments would want that energy which is requisite for the preservation of order, and the advancement of the true interests of the people; they have insultingly told us that we possessed not the wisdom and the virtue to manage our own affairs with reputation, and that we would be plunged in anarchy and confusion, when left to ourselves.

And shall we, in the moment of their abasement, and of our final and compleat success, afford them the triumph to observe that their predictions may be verified? No! let us rather endeavour to convince them, that in this, as in every other political argument, they have embraced error for truth: let us give them one more lesson, which, tho' the last, may not be the least instructing, "That the happiness of mankind depends upon laws which are founded in wisdom, and executed in justice; which protect the subject from the insolent abuses of power, whether in the many, in the few, or in one.

Last Monday arrived the sloop Deer, Richard Grinnell, Master, in 22 days from St. John's Newfoundland, who informs, that American vessels were not permitted to enter, wear colours, or sell their cargoes, except such articles as the necessities of the garrison required---that a number of American vessels were there, waiting the arrival of the Governor, who for some time had been expected---and further says, that fish sold for 16s. sterl. per quintal---Capt. Grinnell, on his homeward bound passage, put into Halifax, where the troops from Penobscot had arrived, and the Hessian troops embark'd---destination unknown.

The General Court, in their late Session, ordered a congratulatory Address to be transmitted to his Excellency General WASHINGTON, of which the following is a true copy.

SIR,

THE Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, in General Court assembled, take this opportunity of congratulating you on the happy return of peace.

Your Excellency, we are assured, will join us in the warmest expressions of gratitude to the Supreme Ruler of the Universe, under whose influence and direction the struggles of a virtuous and free people have terminated in a revolution which excites the admiration of the world.

Guided by his all-wise providence, your country early fixed her eyes upon you; and confiding in those eminent qualities which you possessed, appointed you to the command of her armies.

The wisdom of your conduct in the discharge of that important trust, has given a compleat sanction to the appointment, and crowned the most heightened expectation. In every stage of the arduous conflict, what trying scenes have you not passed through! What hardships have you not endured! What dangers have you not encountered!---May Heaven reward your unremitted exertions!---May you long live, beloved by a grateful country, and partaking largely in the enjoyment of those inestimable blessings which you have been so eminently instrumental in securing for us! While Patriots shall not cease to applaud that sacred attachment which you have constantly manifested to the rights of citizens---too often violated by men in arms! your military virtues and atchievments will be deeply recorded in the breasts of your countrymen and their posterity, and make the brightest pages in the history of mankind.

By the UNITED STATES in CONGRESS Assembled, August 7, 1783.

Resolved unanimously, ten states being present:

That an equestrian statue of general Washington be erected at the place where the residence of Congress shall be established:

Resolved, That the statue be of bronze: the general to be represented in a Roman dress, holding a truncheon in his right hand and his head encircled with a laurel wreath: the statue to be supported by a marble pedestal, on which are to be represented, in basso relievo, the following principal events of the war, in which general Washington commanded in person, viz. The Evacuation of Boston—The Capture of the Hessians at Trenton—The Battle of Princeton—The Action of Monmouth—and the Surrender of York. On the upper part of the front of the pedestal to be engraved as follows: "The United States in Congress Assembled, ordered this statue to be erected in the year of our Lord, 1783, in honor of George Washington, the illustrious commander in chief of the armies of the United States of America during the war, which vindicated and secured their liberty, sovereignty, and independence."

Resolved, That a statue conformable to the above plan be executed by the best artist in Europe, under the superintendance of the minister of the United States at the court of Versailles, and that money to defray the expence of the same be furnished from the treasury of the United States.

Resolved, That the secretary of Congress transmit to the minister of the United States at the court of Versailles, the best resemblance of general Washington that can be procured for the purpose of having the above statue erected, together with the fittest description of the events which are to be the subject of the basso relievo.

Last Thursday a small party of whigs in Bucks county, having intelligence that Moses Doane, Levy Doane, his brother, and Abraham Doane, cozen german of the two first, all three outlawed for robbery, were in a ruined house near the mouth of Tohiccon creek, they went thither armed to take those leaders of a gang of robbers. On approaching them they were called to surrender, instead of which they took up their fire arms and discharged them against the party, by which an officer of militia was shot through the body. A gun was pointed at another by Moses Doane, but he closing in, seized upon the villain, who still resisting, was shot dead by another of the party. Mean while Levy and Abraham Doane escaped by the back door. A person posted behind the house fired as they ran off, and one of them fell, but rising again, got into the thicket which surrounded the house, and escaped.

The discovery of these wretches was made by their sending a rascal, who harboured them in or near the hovel where they were found, to a neighbouring mill to procure flour. The fellow thro' weakness, it seems, betrayed the secret to the miller.

The following is copied, verbatim, from a paper found in Moses Doane's pocket, after he was killed.

On the 12th ult. departed this life at Mount-Pleasant, in Burlington county, State of New-Jersey, Mrs. ALICE LEE, wife of JOHN LEE, Esq; in the 46th year of her age, after a long and painful illness, which she bore with a christian fortitude, and resigned her situation chearfully to the divine will of her Creator. And the next day her remains were interred in the Church burial-ground at Burlington, attended by a great number of respectable inhabitants of different denominations.

Mrs. Lee was born in England, near the city of Exeter, in Devonshire, and was the youngest daughter of Mr. Peter Richards, a wealthy farmer in that neighbourhood: She came to America in the year 1774, but has enjoyed a poor state of health at different periods since the latter end of June, 1778, having at that time received many insults from the British army when they passed through the Jerseys, after the evacuation of Philadelphia----------But now

Philadelphia, August 30, 1783.

To the PUBLIC.

THE subscriber, late Master of the Academy at Lancaster, has removed to this city. Encouraged by many respectable citizens, he has opened an Academy for the instruction of youth in the English and French languages, in writing, arithmetic, book-keeping, and the necessary branches of practical mathematics.

The honorable testimony with which the principal gentlemen at Lancaster favoured him, will, he hopes, inspire parents and guardians with a reasonable confidence that his solicitude for the morals and mental improvement of his pupils will give them here the fullest satisfaction.

He can assure the public that the gentleman employed as a teacher of the French language has had a liberal education in one of the Colleges in Paris. Gentlemen, whose judgment may be depended upon, say that he has the best pronounciation of that language, in the grammatical knowledge of which he was early instructed. He likewise understands English, not only to be well understood by his pupils, but to translate with propriety from the one into the other. No public teacher of the French tongue ought to be admitted without these qualifications in this country.

The price of tuition for French students is Forty Shillings per quarter; and by the regulations of the Academy, they have the privilege of being instructed in the English or mathematical schools, at such hours as their parents may direct, without additional expence. All other students pay Thirty Shillings per quarter.

Young ladies or gentlemen, who cannot attend at the public school, may be taught French at their houses, by applying to the subscriber, at the Academy, now kept at Mr. Kinnear's, the north-west corner of Vine and Third-streets.

Where perſons inclining to purchaſe or rent improved or unimproved lands, may have an opportunity of ſeeing the drafts and deſcriptions of a great number of tracts of excellent land, in Berks, Lancaſter, Northumberland, Cumberland, and other counties; and thoſe who wiſh to ſell lands may hear of purchaſers, by furniſhing him with the drafts and deſcriptions of their lands, and mentioning in what townſhips, or on what ſtreams, they are ſurveyed.

His ſituation, ſo near the extenſive fertile country on the waters of the Schuylkill and Suſquehanna, and the knowledge he already poſſeſſes of the lands over the mountains, together with the further information which he will make it a point of procuring, will put it in his power to give very particular and true deſcriptions of the quality and natural advantages of the lands in that quarter, and the beſt and ſhorteſt roads or paths leading to them.

He hopes, by his care, integrity and diſpatch in the buſineſs entruſted to him, to render general ſatisfaction.

Be it therefore enacted, and it is hereby enacted by the repreſentatives of the Freemen of the commonwealth of Pennſylvania, in general aſſembly met, and by the authority of the ſame, That, from and after the publication of this act, all and every perſon and perſons, who ſhall apprehend and take the aforeſaid Caleb Paul, John Paul, Robert Steel, Aaron Doan, Mahlon Doan, Edward Connard, Henry Connard, Jeremiah Cooper, Amos White, Joſeph Doan, Abraham Doan, Levi Doan, George Sinclare, Gideon Vernon, Thomas Bulla, Amos Williams, Edward Richardſon and George Burns, or any of them, and deliver them or him to the ſheriff of any county in this ſtate, in the common goal of the ſame county, or to the keeper of any goal there, and obtain a certificate thereof from ſuch ſheriff or goaler, which one of them is hereby authoriſed and required to give upon ſuch delivery, ſhall, on producing the ſaid certificate to the preſident or vice-preſident in council, the ſame being counterſigned by one of the judges of the ſupreme court, or any two juſtices of the peace, receive an order on the treaſurer for the ſum of Three Hundred Pounds, for each and every of the perſons aforeſaid ſo taken and delivered; and the ſaid ſheriff and goaler are hereby empowered and required, without any mittimus or other authority, to receive the ſaid offenders or offender ſo delivered in ſuch goal, and them or him to keep ſafe, until thence diſcharged by due courſe of law, under the penalty of being puniſhed as for a wilful eſcape of a capital felon; and in caſe any diſpute ſhall happen to ariſe between the perſons ſo apprehending, taking and delivering the ſaid offenders, touching the right and title to the ſaid reward, that then the ſaid judge or juſtices, ſo reſpectively counterſigning as aforeſaid, ſhall, together with the ſaid certificate, direct in writing, under his or their hands, the ſaid reward to be paid to and amongſt the parties claiming the ſame, in ſuch ſhares and proportions as to the ſaid judge or juſtices ſhall ſeem juſt and reaſonable.

Sect. 3. And be it further enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That if any of the offenders herein before named, or any other perſon who has committed any robbery or burglary, being out of priſon, ſhall, from and after the publication of this act, apprehend and take, and cauſe to be delivered as aforeſaid, two or more of the ſaid perſons before named, who have been outlawed as aforeſaid, or two or more of the other perſons herein before laſt named, ſo as two or more of the perſons laſt named ſhall be convicted of any robbery or burglary, the perſon ſo apprehending and delivering in the firſt caſe, and ſo apprehending and proſecuting to conviction in the ſecond caſe, ſhall himſelf have the reward and allowance of One Hundred Pounds, upon producing to the preſident or vice preſident in council a certificate, ſigned and counterſigned as before mentioned, together alſo with a pardon of all robberies, burglaries, and other offences not capital, by him committed at any time or times before ſuch apprehending and taking, if the ſupreme executive council of this ſtate ſhall think it adviſeable, by their proclamation to promiſe the ſame, which pardon ſhall be likewiſe a good bar to any appeal brought for ſuch robbery or burglary.

Sect. 4. And foraſmuch as the ſaid felons are much encouraged to commit ſuch robberies and burglaries, becauſe a great number of perſons receive and buy of the ſaid felons the money and goods ſo by them feloniouſly taken, and alſo do make it their buſineſs to harbour and conceal the ſaid offenders after the ſaid facts, knowing the ſaid robberies and burglaries to have been by them commmitted; be it therefore enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That if any perſon or perſons ſhall receive or buy any money, goods or chattels, that have been or ſhall be feloniouſly taken or ſtolen by the offenders herein before named, or any of them, from any other perſon, knowing the ſame to be ſo, or ſhall receive, relieve, harbour, comfort or aſſiſt the ſaid offenders, or any of them, knowing them to be ſuch, he, ſhe or they ſo offending ſhall be deemed and taken to be acceſſary or acceſſaries to the ſaid robberies or burglaries, and, being of either of ſaid offences legally convicted, ſhall ſuffer and incur the pains of death, without benefit of clergy, but without working corruption of blood, loſs of dower, or forfeiture of lands or goods.

Sect. 5. And be it further enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That if any perſon or perſons ſhall diſcover any one or more perſons, who, from and after the publication of this act, ſhall have received money, goods or chattels, that have been or ſhall be feloniouſly taken or ſtolen by the offenders herein before named from any other perſon, knowing the ſame to be ſo; or ſhall diſcover any perſon or perſons, who ſhall receive, relieve, harbour, comfort or aſſiſt the ſaid offenders, or any of them, knowing them to be ſuch, ſo as he, ſhe or they ſo diſcovered ſhall be convicted of either of the ſaid offences, any ſuch diſcoverer ſhall have a reward of fifty pounds; and that the judges before whom ſuch offenders ſhall be convicted as aforeſaid, or one of them, ſhall determine and ſettle the rights and ſhares of ſuch reſpective perſons who ſhall be entitled to the ſaid reward, and give a certificate thereof (being thereunto required) to the perſon or perſons ſo entitled thereunto, who thereupon ſhall, on application to the preſident or vice-preſident in council, receive an order on the treaſurer of the ſtate for the aforeſaid reward.

Sect. 6. And be it further enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That in caſe any perſon or perſons ſhall happen to be killed or wounded, ſo as to loſe an eye, or the uſe of any limb, in apprehending, or in making purſuit after ſuch robbers, burglars, felons, receivers of ſtolen money or goods, or receivers, harbourers or comforters of ſuch robbers or burglars, on proof thereof at the court of general quarter ſeſſions of the peace and goal delivery, for the county where the ſame ſhall happen, the juſtices, or three of them, ſhall give a certificate thereof to the executor or adminiſtrator of the perſon ſo killed, or to the perſon ſo wounded, which ſhall entitle them, on application to the preſident or vice-preſident in council, to receive an order on the treaſurer of the ſtate, if killed, for the ſum of three hundred pounds, and if wounded as aforeſaid, for the ſum of one hundred and fifty pounds.

Sect. 7. And whereas it is the duty of every perſon legally accuſed of any crime quietly to yield himſelf up to the juſtice of his country, and alſo of every citizen and ſubject to uſe his beſt endeavours for preventing the eſcape of any robber, burglar, or other felon, Be it further enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That if any of the offenders herein before named ſhall reſiſt any perſon or perſons endeavouring to arreſt or impriſon him, and he, ſo making reſiſtance, ſhall happen to be killed, or if any of them ſhall fly from any perſon or perſons endeavouring to apprehend him, and in the purſuit the ſaid party ſo flying ſhall be killed, where he cannot be otherwiſe overtaken, he or they ſo killing ſhall be and hereby are juſtified; and in caſe any proſecution ſhall be commenced againſt any perſon or perſons for the ſame, he or they may thereto plead the general iſſue, and give this act in evidence. And moreover, he or they ſo killing any of the before named offenders (on proof thereof made at any court of general quarter ſeſſions of the peace and goal delivery, for the county where ſuch killing ſhall happen, and the ſame being certified by the juſtices, or any three of them, who are hereby authorized and required to certify the ſame) ſhall, on producing ſuch certificate to the preſident or vice-preſident in council, receive an order on the treaſurer of the ſtate for the ſum of three hundred pounds.

Sect. 8. And be it further enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That if any perſon or perſons ſhall be called on by any juſtice of the peace, ſheriff, or his deputy, any militia officer, conſtable, or perſon robbed, to go in purſuit of either of the ſaid felons or offenders, their aiders, abettors, harbourers or concealers, and ſhall refuſe, he or they ſeverally, on conviction before any juſtice of the peace where he or they ſhall reſide, ſhall pay a fine of five pounds to the uſe of the commonwealth, to be recovered as debts of five pounds and under are recoverable by law.

Sect. 9. And be it further enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That this act ſhall be and continue in force until the firſt day of January, which will be in the year of our Lord one thouſand ſeven hundred and eighty five, and no longer.

Signed by order of the houſe.

LONDON.

June 30. The French Court have allowed, that the ships of the United States of America shall have free access to and from any of the ports of France in the West-India islands, and to carry their produce to any part of the world (France excepted) on paying a trifling duty; and those articles of produce intended directly for any part of the United States, are to be shipped free of all duty.

The Court of Denmark has taken off most of the impost and shipping duty on goods carried to and from the islands of St. Thomas and St. Croix in the West-Indies, and made them more free to all nations than they have been heretofore; and in their published edicts and regulations they seem to court and pay particular attention to the new and rising commercial States of America.

It is now the general opinion of many people, that Mr. Hartly will return without his errand from Paris, and that no commercial treaty will be fixed as yet between Great-Britain and America:---The agreement between France and America, that the ships of the latter shall have free liberty to become the carriers of West-India property to all parts of the world, save to Old France; the Dutch and Danes allowing the same freedom of commerce; and the manifest injury such free trade and access to our islands would do our navigation laws and the revenues at home, all conspire against the conclusion of such a commercial treaty, and but too fatally point out to every man that will think, that this country will experience a considerable diminution in her marine commerce.

We are informed from very respectable authority that the last difference between the negociating parties at Paris for signing the definitive treaty, was from a refusal on the part of Britain to cede away Gibraltar. Both the Spanish and Dutch peremptorily insist upon its being given to Spain for a valuable consideration; and it is the opinion of many well-informed political men here, that it is the intention of the British Cabinet to give it up.

We are confidently assured, that Government has just come to the knowledge of a commercial treaty, highly injurious to Great-Britain, being negociating between the Powers who stiled themselves the Armed Neutrality. In consequence of this information, special messengers have been dispatched to the Continent, and particularly to Russia, to know if the Empress is a party in this business, or if the negociation is carried on with her knowledge and approbation.

July 1. Letters from Vienna say, that a treaty is negotiating between the Emperor and the Czarina, in which they mutually pledge themselves, that if either shall engage themselves in a war with the Turks, the other shall immediately take a decided and spirited part against the Infidels, and that neither shall make peace independently of, or without the concurrence of the other contracting power.

It is well known that the treaty of armed neutrality was aimed obliquely, and sometimes put in execution directly against the interests of Great-Britain; if a treaty somewhat similar is in agitation, it is to be hoped that our Ministry will not sleep, as former Ministers have done, while others are watchful to injure their country.

The idea of abolishing exclusive trade can never be agreed to in the present state of Europe.---What, in this case, would become of our trading companies? What would become of the Dutch? It must be an exclusion of common sense to adopt the idea.

Should the Turks be driven out of Europe, which it would be an Herculean labour to accomplish, it is probable that European wars would be yet more frequent that ever, because the several Princes, who so often quarrel for trifles or for nothing, would find sufficient foundation for dispute---about sharing the spoils; for in effect all men and all nations contend for plunder.

Letters from several parts of Germany bring accounts of the great warlike preparations carrying on for building boats for exporting large bodies of land forces over the Danube, whilst considerable detachments of cavalry are said to be on their way to Moravia. They further add, that on the 5th inst. the first envoy of artillery and ammunition was sent off from Budweys; it consists of 800 waggons, and 60 pieces of ordnance. On the 13th a second train will be sent off, and on the 20th a third.

RICHMOND, in Virginia, August 30.

By undoubted authority we learn from Fort Nelson, that the Indians have been very peaceable in the Kentuckey country since May; many Talks have been delivered to and from the numerous tribes in the north-western quarter, and the great warriors evince a very friendly turn of mind towards their brothers the Big Knives of America, and all their inferior kindred, however distantly related. An exchange of prisoners lately took place between the Commandant at the Falls of Ohio, and the Shawanese tribe; a circumstance unprecedented with savages. Among those we received is a young gentleman, by the name of Johnson. The Indians have promised to return all the plunder they have taken and yet remaining in their hands.

They are not well reconciled to their fathers the English, who they say have conducted them into a scrape, deserted, and left them to shift for themselves. They urge, that they have received many foolish Talks from the other side of the water, such as we suppose are generally used by the ministry; it is suggested that they are induced to believe the great man there has not attended well to his Big Knives; that they have got very dull of late, and must be sharpened before they are fit for butchering again.

PHILADELPHIA, September 10.

Yesterday arrived here the ship General Washington, Captain Barney, from Havre de Grace, which place he left on the first of August, and touched at Poole, in England, where he landed the hon. Henry Laurens, Esq; on his way to London. We learn that the definitive treaty was not signed when Capt. Barney sailed: That Treaties of Commerce with America were signed by the Courts of Portugal and Denmark: And that a Treaty of Alliance was concluded between the Courts of France and England, to support the Turks against the Empress of Russia and the Emperor of Germany.

The ship Hope, Captain Robinson, was spoke with on the 4th of July, in the British Channel, all well, 50 days out from Philadelphia.

The ship Commerce, Captain Truxton, arrived in England from Philadelphia the latter end of June, after a fine passage; and the cutter Brothers, Major, is arrived at Folkstone from Philadelphia.

Copy of a letter from Sir Guy Carleton, to the President of Congress.

SIR, New-York, 17th August, 1783.

THE June packet lately arrived, has brought me final orders for the evacuation of this place; be pleased, Sir, to inform Congress of this proof of the perseverance of the Court of Great-Britain, in the pacific system expressed by the provisional articles, and that I shall lose no time, as far as depends upon me, in fulfilling his Majesty's commands.

But notwithstanding my orders are urgent to accelerate the total evacuation, the difficulty of assigning the precise period for this event is of late greatly increased.

My correspondence with General Washington, Governor Clinton, and Mr. Livingston (your late Secretary for foreign affairs) early suggested the impediments tending to retard this service. A letter to Mr. Livingston of the 6th of April, two more to General Washington of the 12th of May and 10th of June, with several to Governor Clinton, stating many hostile proceedings within the sphere of his authority, are those to which I refer, copies of some of these letters I enclose, though I am doubtless to presume the Congress to be informed of all transactions material to the general direction of their affairs.

The violence in the Americans, which broke out soon after the cessation of hostilities, encreased the number of their countrymen to look to me for escape from threatened destruction, but these terrors have of late been so considerably augmented, that almost all within these lines conceive the safety both of their property and of their lives depend upon their being removed by me, which renders it impossible to say when the evacuation can be compleated. Whether they have just ground to assert, that there is either no government within your limits for common protection, or that it secretly favours the Committees in the sovereignty they assume, and are actually exercising, I shall not pretend to determine; but as the daily Gazettes and publications furnish repeated proofs, not only of a disregard to the articles of peace, but of barbarous menaces from Committees formed in various towns, cities, and districts, and even at Philadelphia, the very place that Congress had chosen for their residence, I should shew an indifference to the feelings of humanity, as well as to the honor and interest of the nation I serve, to leave any of the loyalists that are desirous to quit the country, a prey to the violence they conceive they have so much cause to apprehend.

The Congress will hence discern how much it will depend on themselves and the subordinate Legislatures, to facilitate the service I am commanded to perform; by abating the fears, they will thereby diminish the number of the emigrants: But should these fears continue, and compel such multitudes to remove, I shall hold myself acquitted from every delay in the fulfilling my orders, and the consequences which may result therefrom; and I cannot avoid adding, that it makes no small part of my concern, that the Congress have thought proper to suspend to this late hour, recommendations stipulated by the treaty, and in the punctual performance of which the King and his Ministers have expressed such entire confidence.

I am, Sir, your Excellency's most obedient,
And most humble servant,
GUY CARLETON.

Auguſt 5, 1783. § JOHN MONTGOMERY.

Philadelphia, Auguſt 30, 1783.

To the PUBLIC.

THE ſubſcriber, late Maſter of the Academy at Lancaſter, has removed to this city. Encouraged by many reſpectable citizens, he has opened an Academy for the inſtruction of youth in the Engliſh and French languages, in writing, arithmetic, book-keeping, and the neceſſary branches of practical mathematics.

The honorable teſtimony with which the principal gentlemen at Lancaſter favoured him, will, he hopes, inſpire parents and guardians with a reaſonable confidence that his ſolicitude for the morals and mental improvement of his pupils will give them here the fulleſt ſatisfaction.

He can aſſure the public that the gentleman employed as a teacher of the French language has had a liberal education in one of the Colleges in Paris. Gentlemen, whoſe judgment may be depended upon, ſay that he has the beſt pronounciation of that language, in the grammatical knowledge of which he was early inſtructed. He likewiſe underſtands Engliſh, not only to be well underſtood by his pupils, but to tranſlate with propriety from the one into the other. No public teacher of the French tongue ought to be admitted without theſe qualifications in this country.

The price of tuition for French ſtudents is Forty Shillings per quarter; and by the regulations of the Academy, they have the privilege of being inſtructed in the Engliſh or mathematical ſchools, at ſuch hours as their parents may direct, without additional expence. All other ſtudents pay Thirty Shillings per quarter.

Young ladies or gentlemen, who cannot attend at the public ſchool, may be taught French at their houſes, by applying to the ſubſcriber, at the Academy, now kept at Mr. Kinnear's, the north-weſt corner of Vine and Third-ſtreets.

BATSTO IRON-WORKS,

With the Land, Ore, Teams, Utenſils and other Conveniencies and Privileges thereunto belonging, ſituate at the Head of the Tide or Fords of Egg-Harbour river, in New-Jerſey, within 38 miles of the city of Philadelphia,

Are offered for SALE,

CONSISTING OF---

A FURNACE, ſufficiently large and commodious to produce upwards of 100 tons of pigs and caſtings per month, and from the mild and kind quality of the ore, may be continued in blaſt for two years or upwards, on the ſame hearth. The metal is remarkably well adapted for caſtings, both of hollow ware and cannon, in which experience has ſufficiently proved it to excel, as well as in producing extraordinary bar iron; it has moreover the peculiar quality of mixing well with, and tempering other iron of various qualities, whereby it uſually commands a higher price than other pig iron, both in Europe and America. The Furnace is furniſhed with an excellent ſett of braſs patterns for hollow ware, and may be put in blaſt in a ſhort time, conſiderable preparations of ſtock being made, and the buſineſs in a proper train for proceeding.

A Rolling and Slitting Mill, which, from the ſtrength and conſtruction of the works, and large head of water, is capable of great execution.

On the ſame Dam are alſo a Saw Mill and ſmall Griſt Mill; and the ſtream, which is plentiful in the drieſt ſeaſon, is ſufficient to admit of extenſive additional works.

A Forge with four fires and two hammers, nearly new, well conſtructed and in good order, now at work, diſtant about half a mile from the Furnace, on another well adapted ſtream; on which is alſo an excellent, newly built Saw Mill; and near the Forge are ſome Tenements for workmen, and a large new Coal-houſe.

Contiguous to the Furnace is a commodious Manſion-houſe, accommodated with a ſpacious, well cultivated garden, in which is a well choſen collection of excellent Fruit trees of various kinds, and adjoining it a young bearing orchard of about 2000 apple trees, moſtly grafted.

A number of dwelling-houſes for the beſt accommodation of tradeſmen and others neceſſarily employed about the works; which, together with the ſtore-houſes, barns, ſtabling, ſmith's ſhops, nailery, coal-houſe and other convenient buildings, form a conſiderable village; the whole of which, together with the various works are overlooked from the door of the Manſion-houſe, which ſtands on a pleaſant eminence.

A large and plentiful body of Woodland ſurrounding the works, and within convenient diſtance, in which are divers Cedar-Swamps, and a conſiderable quantity of Pine, adapted to Saw-Mills; alſo large bodies of Ore in various parts, which may be raiſed and collected with little trouble and expence.

About 200 tons of Pig-Iron on the bank, and near 3000 cords of wood ready for coaling, beſides a tolerable ſupply of coals in ſtock.

The river affords a good and eaſy navigation for ſea veſſels of burden within a mile, or thereabouts, of the works, and for large ſcows to the Furnace bank, which offers an eaſy communication by water with Philadelphia, New-York, the Weſt-Indies, &c. It is an excellent ſituation for trade and for ſhip-building, being in the midſt of a country abounding with boards, ſcantling, ſhingles, tar, &c. for merchandize, as well as materials for building ſuitable veſſels; and goods to the amount of many thouſand pounds per annum may be vended to advantage in exchange for thoſe commodities. It is moreover an excellent ſeat for Griſt Mills on an extenſive plan, as the grain of Virginia, Maryland, and the lower parts of Delaware, may be conveyed thither at a more eaſy rate than to Philadelphia. If an additional force of water ſhould be wanted, a large ſtream, paſſing betwen the two abovementioned, may be raiſed at a moderate expence to communicate with, and ſupply either or both of the other ponds, ſo as to combine the force of three capital ſtreams to be uſed at any one point, or ſeparately, as occaſion may require.

Terms will be made eaſy to the purchaſer: On the payment of a moderate proportion of the purchaſe money in caſh, time will be given for the reſidue on intereſt, or a conſiderable part will be taken in Loan-Office Certificates, or ſuch other mode of payment as may be agreed upon. Apply to JOHN COX, Eſq; at Bloomſbury, near Trenton, CHARLES PETTIT, in Philadelphia, or JOSEPH BALL, managing owner at the ſaid works.

ALL perſons indebted to the Eſtate of DAVID REGESTER, late of the townſhip of Edgmont, and county of Cheſter, deceaſed, either by bond, note or book debt, are hereby required to make ſpeedy payment, or they will be dealt with as the law directs; likewiſe all perſons having any demands againſt ſaid eſtate, are deſired to bring in their accounts to us, the ſubſcribers, that they may be ſettled and paid.

PENNSYLVANIA GAZETTE.

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 17, 1783.

STATE OF PENNSYLVANIA.

An ACT for building Market-houſes and keeping a public Market, on both Sides of Callowhill-ſtreet and New-Market-ſtreet, in the Northern Liberties of the City of Philadelphia.

WHEREAS the late Proprietaries of Pennſylvania, at the laying out and ſurveying a number of town lots at a place called Callowhill, between Front and Second-ſtreets, in the Northern Liberties of the city of Philadelphia, did, for the encouragement of the people who would build on and improve theſe and other their lots of land in the neighbourhood thereof, leave open and deſign for a public Market an oblong piece of ground, northward and ſouthward one hundred and thirty feet, and eaſtward and weſtward two hundred and ten feet, croſſed in its middle by two ſtreets, one running eaſt and weſt, called Callowhill-ſtreet, the other north and ſouth, called New-Market-ſtreet, each of the ſaid ſtreets being of the breadth of fifty feet, and interſecting one another:

AND WHEREAS a conſiderable number of the ſame lots, and of lots in the adjacent ſuburbs, particularly towards the Delaware, have been built over or otherwiſe improved, ſhip-building, commerce, and other buſineſs and occupations are carried on above and below the ſaid market-place, and by eſtabliſhing the new-ferry at the wharff of Callowhill ſtreet, theſe parts of the town are much reſorted to by the people of New-Jerſey, and others; and a great number of the freeholders and inhabitants of the upper part of the city of Philadelphia, and of the Northern Liberties thereof, have, by their petition, repreſented to the General Aſſembly of this Commonwealth, that they labour under many difficulties by reaſon of their diſtance from the public market kept in the city; that the aforeſaid Callowhill market-place is very convenient for the accommodation of the houſe-keepers in that diſtrict; and have offered to build ſtalls by ſubſcription, without any charge to the public; and that after all coſts of the buildings are paid and ſatisfied, all the profits and income of the ſaid market ſhall be appropriated to the benefit of the Northern Liberties, and have humbly prayed this Houſe to paſs a law for that purpoſe:

Be it therefore enacted, and it is hereby enacted by the Repreſentatives of the Freemen of the Commonwealth of Pennſylvania, in General Aſſembly met, and by the Authority of the ſame, That from and after the publication of this act, the aforeſaid oblong ſhall be and remain, and it is hereby declared to be and remain for ever a public market-place, for the buying and ſelling of all ſorts of proviſions, victuals and things of the country produce and manufacture, on every day of the week, except Sunday, and that all manner of perſons ſhall have liberty to expoſe to ſale their country produce on ſuch ſtalls, booths, or other ſtands, as ſhall be aſſigned to them by the Clerk of the market within or near the ſaid market-place, they paying a reaſonable toll, or ſuch as is accuſtomed to be taken in the city of Philadelphia.

And in order that the ſaid market may be built, and the monies neceſſary for the doing of it raiſed and collected, Be it further enacted by the Authority aforeſaid, That Iſaac Coats, David Roſe, George Forepaugh, George Leib, Peter Brown and John Britton, ſhall be Superintendants of the ſaid market, and ſhall have power to take ſubſcriptions, in the way either of loan or donation, for the building market-houſes, and for paving New-Market-ſtreet, from Cable-Lane as far as Margaretta-ſtreet, and the ſaid Callowhill-ſtreet from Second-ſtreet to Front-ſtreet; for purchaſing or making moveable booths or ſtands, copper or braſs ſtandards of weights and meaſures, and other things neceſſary for the keeping a market: And in order that ſuch ſubſcription monies may be actually paid when occaſion ſhall be to employ the ſame for the purpoſes aforeſaid, each ſubſcriber ſhall give a promiſſary note, under his hand and ſeal, to the Treaſurer, payable on a certain day or days, or on demand, either in one entire payment, or by inſtallments; and ſuch promiſſary notes, be it loan or donation, if atteſted by two credible witneſſes, ſhall have the ſame force and be to the ſame effect in law, as promiſſary notes given and obtained for a valuable conſideration: And the ſaid Superintendants ſhall appoint a Treaſurer, either of their own number, or another of the inhabitants of the Northern Liberties, for whom they ſhall be anſwerable to the reſt of the ſubſcribers, but may take ſuch ſecurities of him as to them ſhall ſeem meet. And the ſaid Treaſurer ſhall, upon the receipt of any ſubſcription money, give a certificate, atteſted by two of the ſaid Superintendants, to the perſon who paid the ſame, expreſſing therein whether it be his donation or loan, and to the lenders, that the principal ſum lent, and the intereſt thereof, at the rate of Six per Centum per Anuum from the time of actual payment, is to be paid out of the income and profits of the ſaid market, at every diſtribution of the ſaid income to be made annually among the ſaid lenders; which certificates ſhall be aſſignable in like manner as bonds and promiſſary notes are made aſſignable by law.

And be it further enacted by the Authority aforeſaid, That it ſhall be lawful to and for the ſaid Iſaac Coats, David Roſe, George Forepaugh, George Leib, Peter Brown and John Britton, or any four of them, for and out of the monies ſubſcribed and paid, to build, at the interſection of Callowhill and New-Market-ſtreets, either at one and the ſame time, or ſucceſſively, as the monies ſhall come into their hands, four ſeparate Market-houſes of brick, well covered with cedar ſhingles or tiles, in the four corners formed by the ſaid two ſtreets, each of the ſaid Market-houſes upon the lines of Callowhill-ſtreet to be in length eaſtward and weſtward fifty-five feet, and in breadth northward and ſouthward upon the lines of New-Market-ſtreet eighteen feet, with as many diſtinct ſtalls in the ſame as they ſhall think proper, leaving an area of fifty feet ſquare for the free paſſage over the ſaid ſtreets, and a paſſage at leaſt twenty feet wide between each Market-houſe, and the houſes and lots on the north and ſouth ſides of the Market ſquare, to ſet up lamps at and about the ſaid Market-houſes, to pave the middle of the ſaid two ſtreets next to the lines of gutters on both ſides of the ſtreets, ſo as the ſame are or ſhall be fixed by the regulators of the Northern Liberties, and purchaſe and keep moveable booths or ſtands, to be uſed on great Market-days, when the brick ſtalls ſhall not be ſufficient to contain all that is brought to this Market; that it ſhall be lawful for the freeholders and inhabitants of the Northern Liberties of the city of Philadelphia, annually, until all the money borrowed on Certificates ſhall be fully paid, at the time and place for electing Superviſors of the highways, then and there to chuſe by ballot ſix Superintendants of the ſaid Callowhill Market, and alſo one Clerk of the ſaid Market, who ſhall make eſſay of weights and meaſures in the ſaid Market, and elſewhere in the Northern Liberties, and do and perform all things belonging to the office of a Clerk of the Market within the the ſaid townſhip.

Provided always, That if the ſaid Callowhill Market ſhall be ready to be opened before the third Saturday of March next, then Jeremiah Baker ſhall be the Clerk of the Market until that day; and that the ſaid Iſaac Coats, David Roſe, George Forepaugh, George Leib, Peter Brown and John Britton ſhall continue in the office of Superintendants until the third Saturday of March, one thouſand ſeven hundred and eighty-five, unleſs any one or more of them ſhould in the mean time die, reſign or remove from the townſhip, who ſhall be replaced on the townſhip's election day next after ſuch death, reſignation or removal: And whenever the ſaid four Market-houſes ſhall be built, Callowhill-ſtreet and New-Market-ſtreet paved, and all the lenders of money on Certificates be fully paid and ſatisfied, then and from thenceforth no more than two Superintendants, a Clerk of the Market, and one Treaſurer, ſhall be annually elected as aforeſaid.

And be it further enacted by the Authority aforeſaid, That the fees of the Clerk of the ſaid Callowhill Market ſhall be the ſame as the fees of the Clerk of the Market for the city of Philadelphia now are by cuſtom, until the ſame ſhall be regulated and ſet by act of Aſſembly. And that the ſaid Superintendants ſhall annually, on the ſame day when the Supervifors of the highways render their accounts to the Juſtices of the Quarter Seſſions of the Peace for the county of Philadelphia, exhibit to the ſaid Juſtices a fair and true account of all the donations and loans received, and of the coſts and expences of buildings and incidental charges, and of the income and profits of the ſaid Market, and how much of the monies lent on Certificates hath been paid to the lenders, which account ſhall be filed in the office of the Clerk of the Seſſions, and be free to the inſpection of all perſons whom it may concern; and that from and after the liquidation of all ſums of money, principal and intereſt, lent on Certificates, the clear incomes and profits of the ſaid Market ſhall be employed towards paving the moſt improved parts of the Northern Liberties, neareſt the ſaid Market, and repairing the roads and highways in the ſaid Northern Liberties.

An ACT for the Repeal of an Act, entituled "An Act to "prevent and ſtay Suits from being brought againſt "the Inhabitants of Wyoming, during the Time there- "in mentioned," and for other Purpoſes therein mentioned.

WHEREAS it was enacted by a law of this State, paſſed the thirteenth day of March laſt, entituled "An Act to prevent and ſtay ſuits from being brought againſt "the inhabitants of Wyoming, during the time therein men- "tioned,"

That every writ and proceſs whatever, granted or iſſued for any owner or owners, claimant or claimants, againſt any perſon being then an inhabitant on the lands at Wyoming, in order to diſpoſſeſs any of the ſaid inhabitants or ſettlers of the lands or tenements in his, her or their occupancy, ſhould be and the ſame were declared to be ſtayed; and that on motion all further proceedings thereon ſhould be quaſhed by the Court to which ſuch writ ſhould be returnable, until the report of Commiſſioners in the ſaid law mentioned ſhould be laid before this Houſe. And inaſmuch as the ſaid Commiſſioners have now made their report, and it is evident that the clemency and moderation of this Houſe have been miſtaken and treated with neglect, ſo that no reaſonable compromiſe could be effected between the ſettlers at Wyoming and the owners of the ſaid lands: And as it is highly expedient that the good people of this State ſhould enjoy the full benefit, force and effect of the laws of this Commonwealth,

Be it therefore enacted, and it is hereby enacted by the Repreſentatives of the Freemen of the Commonwealth of Pennſylvania, in General Aſſembly met, and by the Authority of the ſame, That, from and after the paſſing of this act, the aforeſaid and above recited act, entituled "An Act to pre- "vent and ſtay ſuits from being brought againſt the inha- "bitants of Wyoming, during the time therein mentioned," and every clauſe and thing therein contained, be, and the ſame hereby actually is repealed, and to all intents and purpoſes made abſolutely null and void, any thing in the ſaid act contained to the contrary thereof in any wiſe notwithſtanding.

AND WHEREAS the Commiſſioners appointed as aforeſaid have reported, that for the better extending of the advantages of civil government to the freeholders and ſettlers of the townſhip of Wyoming, a ſub-diviſion of the ſaid townſhip into three diſtinct townſhips was neceſſary, and that they had accordingly proceeded on the twenty-ſecond day of April laſt to divide the ſame as follows; beginning at the mouth of Shickſhinney creek; thence up the ſame to the heads thereof, and from thence, by a northweſt line, to the boundary of the State; thence eaſt by the ſaid boundary to the eaſt branch of Suſquehannah; thence down the ſame to the place of beginning, to be thenceforth known and called by the name of Shawaneſe townſhip. One other diviſion, beginning at the mouth of Schickſhinney creek aforeſaid; thence extending over the eaſt branch of Suſquehannah, by a ſoutheaſt line to the line of Northampton county; thence northerly, by the line of the ſaid county, to the boundary of the State; thence weſt, by the ſaid boundary, to the eaſt branch of Suſquehannah; thence down and including the ſame to the place of beginning, to be thereafter known and called by the name of Stoke Townſhip. And the reſidue of the ſaid old townſhip of Wyoming, ſo divided, to continue and remain under the name of Wyoming Townſhip. And inaſmuch as it is juſt and right, that what has been done by the ſaid Commiſſioners in this reſpect ſhould receive every legal confirmation:

Be it therefore enacted by the Authority aforeſaid, That the diviſions of the ſaid townſhip of Wyoming into three diſtinct townſhips, as above deſcribed and ſet forth, are hereby ratified and confirmed, to be and remain three diſtinct townſhips, from and after the ſaid twenty-ſecond day of April laſt paſt, to all intents and purpoſes whatſoever: Saving always to the Court of Quarter-Seſſions of the proper county the power of altering, amending or ſub-dividing the ſame, as to them, at any time hereafter, may ſeem convenient and proper.

AND WHEREAS the ſaid Commiſſioners did proceed, on the aforeſaid twenty-ſecond day of April laſt, to divide the aforeſaid townſhips into two diſtinct diſtricts, for the purpoſe of electing Juſtices of the Peace for the ſame, and notified the Honorable John Van Campen of ſuch diviſion, who called together the freeholders of ſuch diſtricts. And the ſaid freeholders, having met agreeable to notice, did, by ballot, elect David Mead, Robert Martin, John Chambers, and Nathan Denniſon, for the Northweſt Diſtrict; and Alexander Patterſon, John Setly, Luke Broadhead and Henry Shoemaker, for the South-eaſt Diſtrict.

AND WHEREAS the tranſactions of the ſaid Commiſſioners in this particular, and every act and thing done in conſequence of the ſame, ought to be obſerved, and receive full and legal confirmation by this Houſe:

Be it therefore enacted by the Authority aforeſaid, That the aforeſaid diviſion of the ſaid townſhips into diſtricts, and the elections in the ſame held, are hereby declared to be good and available in law, to all intents and purpoſes whatever. And the Supreme Executive Council of this State are hereby authoriſed and required to commiſſionate four or more, as to them ſhall ſeem meet, of the eight perſons above mentioned, and now returned as Juſtices of the Peace for the county of Northumberland.

PETER Z. LLOYD, Clerk of the General Aſſembly.

A SUPPLEMENT to the Act, entituled "An Act to "appropriate certain monies ariſing from the exciſe, "for the payment of the annual intereſt due on un-"alienated Certificates therein mentioned," paſſed the twenty firſt day of March laſt.

WHEREAS doubts have ariſen, concerning the meaning of the fourth ſection of the act for appropriating certain monies ariſing from the exciſe, for the paymemr of the annual intereſt due upon unalienated Certificates therein mentioned, whether proviſion hath thereby been made, that the certificates which have remained unalienated until the firſt year's intereſt hath been or may be paid, ſhall entitle the bearer thereof to receive the intereſt which may afterwards accrue thereupon: For remedy whereof,

Be it enacted by the Repreſentatives of the Freemen of the Commonwealth of Pennſylvania, in General Aſſembly met, and by the authority of the ſame, That the poſſeſſor or poſſeſſors of all ſuch depreciation Certificates as ſhall have had one year's intereſt paid thereon, agreeable to the act aforeſaid, ſhall, from and after the tenth day of April next, which will be in the year of our Lord one thouſand ſeven hundred and eighty-four, and from and after the tenth day of April in each and every ſucceeding year, be entitled to receive one year's intereſt annually ariſing thereupon; and the Comptroller-General of this State is hereby authoriſed and directed to report to the Supreme Executive Council the names of the perſon or perſons ſo applying, and the ſums due to them reſpectively, and the names of the perſons for whoſe depreciation of pay the Certificates reſpectively were granted; and the Supreme Executive Council ſhall thereupon order payment thereof, in the manner preſcribed by the act to which this is a ſupplement.

AND WHEREAS it hath been found by experience, that requiring each and every perſon applying for the payment of the firſt year's intereſt of his or her depreciation Certificate or Certificates, to attend perſonally, and make oath before the Comptroller-General, that the ſame hath not been transferred or alienated, is attended with great expence and inconvenience to ſuch as live remote, which may be prevented by appointing proper perſons in the reſpective counties to adminiſter the oath directed to be taken by the act aforeſaid:

Therefore be it enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That the Prothonotaries of the reſpective counties be, and they are hereby authoriſed and impowered, in their ſeveral and reſpective counties, to adminiſter the oath aforeſaid to each and every perſon applying for the benefit of the act aforeſaid and to examine witneſſes touching the alienation of any Certificate produced to them, or any of them, and ſhall certify the ſame to the Comptroller-General, who ſhall thereupon proceed to ſettle and report for payment the intereſt of ſuch Certificates produced to him, which ſhall have been thus atteſted to, in the ſame manner as if the perſons had perſonally attended and made oath before him, any thing contained in the act to which this is a ſupplement to the contrary notwithſtanding.

AND WHEREAS ſundry of the officers of the line of this State, and of the military Hoſpital, in order to accommodate other officers of the ſaid line, have received a third part of the amount of their Certificates in State Money, who would otherwiſe not have done it, and given the ſame to the officers who wiſhed to receive a greater proportion in State Money than could be paid to them agreeable to law, at the ſame time receiving as much of the Certificates for depreciation from the officers to whom they gave the State Money, as amounted to the ſum which they had reſpectively drawn, upon which Certificate they are at preſent deprived from receiving the intereſt:

AND WHEREAS, in payment for forfeited eſtates purchaſed by officers in partnerſhip, where each realized a part of his Certificate, in proportion to the amount of the Certificates and the amount of the ſales, ſeveral officers have paid the whole of their Certificates to the Agents of forfeited eſtates in diſcharge of the purchaſe money, for want of change, and the company accounts have afterwards been ſettled, by repaying thoſe officers that part of their Certificates which they had not realized, in the devided parts of the Certificates of thoſe officers who had paid no part of the ſales to the Agents aforeſaid, which being thus transferred, all are at preſent prevented from receiving the intereſt thereof: In order therefore that juſtice may be done in theſe caſes,

Be it enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That where any officer, poſſeſſed of the Certificates iſſued for the depreciation of the pay of another, and transferred to him, ſhall apply for the intereſt of the ſame, and it ſhall appear to the Comptroller-General, by evidence or otherwiſe, that the Certificate was bona fide received by the perſon producing it, either in exchange for a like ſum of State Money, drawn to accommodate his brother officer, or in the purchaſe of forfeited eſtates from the divided parts of Certificates of officers in the partnerſhip, and not otherwiſe, the ſaid Comptroller-General ſhall report for payment the intereſt thereof, in like manner with other Certificates which remain unalienated.

IN GENERAL ASSEMBLY,

WHEREAS, by the preſent militia laws of this State, the militia cannot be aſſembled in leſs time than three days after notice given: AND WHEREAS the peace and good order of government may be interrupted by ſudden and dangerous tumults and riots, for the ſuppreſſion of which the immediate aid of the militia may be expedient and neceſſary:

Be it therefore enacted, and it is hereby enacted by the Repreſentatives of the Freemen of the Commonwealth of Pennſylvania, in General Aſſembly met, and by the Authority of the ſame, That, from and after the publication of this act, it ſhall and may be lawful for the Supreme Executive Council, and they are hereby empowered, when it may be neceſſary and expedient for the ſupport of the civil authority in preſerving peace and good order within this Commonwealth, to order into actual ſervice ſuch part of the militia, by claſſes, of the city of Philadelphia, or of any county or counties, as the exigency of the caſe may require; provided that the part ſo called doth not exceed four claſſes of the militia of the city, or county or counties ſo called out.

And be it further enacted by the Authority aforeſaid, That the ſeveral and reſpective officers and privates of the militia, ſo called upon or ordered as aforeſaid, ſhall be liable to the ſame fines and penalties for refuſing or neglecting to perform the ſervice required of them by this act, as by the law to which this is a ſupplement they are or may be liable to for neglecting or refuſing to perform a tour of duty.

FROM THE LONDON GAZETTE OF JULY 5.

At the Court of St. James's, the 2d of July, 1783.

PRESENT,

The King's Most Excellent Majesty in Council.

WHEREAS by an act of Parliament passed this session, entituled "An act for preventing certain instruments from being "required from ships belonging to the United States of America, "and to give to his Majesty, for a limited time, certain powers "for the better carrying on trade and commerce between the "subjects of his Majesty's dominions and the inhabitants of the "said United States," it is amongst other things enacted, that during the continuance of the said act, it shall and may be lawful for his Majesty in Council, by order or orders to be issued and published from time to time, to give such directions, and to make such regulations, with respect to duties, drawbacks, or otherwise, for carrying on the trade and commerce between the people and territories belonging to the Crown of Great-Britain, and the people and territories of the said United States, as to his Majesty in Council shall seem most expedient and salutary, any law, usage, or custom to the contrary notwithstanding: His Majesty doth therefore, by and with the advice of his Privy Council, hereby order and direct, that pitch, tar, turpentine, hemp and flax, masts, yards and bowsprits, staves, heading, boards, timber, shingles, and all other species of lumber; horses, neat cattle, sheep, hogs, poultry, and all other species of live stock and live provisions; peas, beans, potatoes, wheat, flour, bread, biscuit, rice, oats, barley, and all other species of grain, being the growth or production of any of the United States of America, may (until further order) be imported by British subjects in British built ships, owned by his Majesty's subjects, and navigated according to law, from any port of the United States of America, to any of his Majesty's West-India islands; and that rum, sugar, molasses, coffee, cocoa nuts, ginger and pimento, may, until further order, be exported by British subjects, in British built ships, owned by his Majesty's subjects, and navigated according to law, from any of his Majesty's West-India islands, to any port or place within the said United States, upon payment of the same duties on exportation, and subject to the like rules, regulations, securities and restrictions, as the same articles by law are or may be subject and liable to, if exported to any British colony or plantation in America:---And the right honorable the Lords Commissioners of his Majesty's Treasury, and the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty, are to give the necessary directions herein, as to them may respectively appertain.

STEPH. COTTREL.

BOSTON, September 1.

Captain William Harris, who arrived here on Friday last, in 9 weeks from Brideport, in England, on the 9th ult. spoke the Nonsuch, Robert Cauldfield, master, bound from Baltimore for London, in lat. 44. 15. N. long. 44. W. all well---and on the 19th, in lat. 43. 35. long. 59. W. spoke the Fame, bound from Philadelphia for St. John's, all well.

NEW-LONDON, September 5.

Last Wednesday evening a large sloop which lay at anchor at the mouth of this harbour, where she arrived a few hours before from Connecticut river, and bound to the West-Indies, took fire and was burnt down. The fire, it is said, communicated from the cabouse to a bundle of hay, while the people were in the cabbin, and before it was discovered had got to such a height, that all attempts to extinguish it were fruitless. She was owned by Mr. Cruger, in St. Croix, and commanded by Captain Marshal. Only two persons were on board, who were taken off by the boats from the shore.

CHATHAM, September 10.

Tuesday and Wednesday night, the 2d and 3d inst. the frost was so severe in these parts as to destroy that prospect of exuberance we had. Indian corn is considerably hurt, and, it is said, near two thirds of the buckwheat is entirely destroyed.

Several renegadoes, formerly belonging to this State, but late in the British service, being now discharged, have had the effrontery to make their appearance in this county; but after receiving proper discipline, have been ordered to return from whence they came.

PHILADELPHIA, September 17.

Preparations are making for the speedy evacuation of New-York. The heavy ordnance from Fort George is already embarked, and shipping are taking up in this city, to assist in carrying off the garrison and stores.

On Saturday, the 6th instant, died, after a short illness, Mr. JAMES CALDWELL, merchant, of this city.-----Society has sustained a considerable loss by the death of this gentleman, whose decided and active conduct as a friend to his country rendered him valuable to the public, while his social virtues endeared him to all who had the pleasure of his acquaintance. The next day his body was interred in the burying-ground of the Old Presbyterian Church, attended by a great number of mourning relatives and friends.

On Tuesday, the 9th instant, departed this life, Capt. WILLIAM PICKLES, of the navy. His remains were the day following interred in the burying-ground of St. Peter's, with military honors, and attended by a number of his friends and citizens.-----This gentleman had early distinguished himself in the cause of his country, in which he acted a conspicuous part to the last.----His loss may truly be called a public one, but is much deplored by all who had the happiness of his acquaintance.----He possessed in an eminent degree those qualities which form a good officer; liberal and humane, his heart was always open to the distressed of every country, and an ample fortune enabled him to gratify its dictates.----It is much to be lamented, that after leading a life of danger, he should at last fall by the hands of assassins, as he attempted the rescue of an unhappy man they were about to murder.

A collector of taxes near Piscataqua, in East-Jersey, was lately robbed of a considerable sum of public money, together with a good deal of his own property. Some of the money was the next day found in the possession of a lad who had been with the English troops near the whole of the late war, but had lately returned to his friends in Jersey, where he was permitted to stay on account of his youth. It appeared that this fellow, with three others of the same description, had perpetrated the robbery, thereby shewing that they had taken the first opportunity of injuring the country which had extended unmeritted mercy to them.

The following copy of an Ordinance, printed in French, was received from Martinique, with a request that it might be translated and published.

ORDINANCE on the AMERICAN TRADE.

Claude Charles, viscount de Damas, major general in the king's armies, lieutenant-governor-general of Martinique and its dependencies, and commandant general of the French Windward Islands, in the West-Indies, during the absence of the governor lieutenant general of said islands.

Jacques Petit, esquire, lord of Vievigne, one of his majesty's most honorable council, honorary councilor in Martinique, judge general and ordinator in the island of Martinique and dependencies.

July 23. 1783.

THE commerce of the colonies in these seas with North-America, holding up the prospect of a reciprocal advantage to the two nations, and the latter allowing in her ports to our merchants every inviting encouragement, it is just that we should use the same expedients to invite them to our ports. It appeared to us that the inward duties and expences not being equal to their cargoes nor the rate of their vessels; and on the other hand, that the slowness in getting their freight, occasioning great expence to them, which was the cause of their aversion for trading with us. Wishing to put a stop to all these inconveniencies, and give to those merchants every encouragement to furnish our colonies with what goods the national commerce cannot afford them, and procure to the Americans the exportation of such commodities as our traders cannot export themselves, we,-&c. in virtue of the powers trusted to us by his majesty, have regulated, statued, and ordained, and we do regulate, statute and ordain what follows:

Article First. The Americans, who shall think proper to trade in this colony and its dependencies, shall be taxed for the inward duties in our ports only at the rate of 16 livres 10 sols for anchorage, 24 livres 15 sols for the declaration at the admiralty, and the same sum for the rights of the interpreter, including his trouble for conducting the captain to the government, and to different places where he must fulfil his formalities.

Article Second. Wishing to favour the quick dispatch of the American vessels, it will be granted to those merchants who have settled or shall settle in the quarter of La Galere and within the circumference of St. Pierre, rum stores, and cisterns for their molasses, an exemption from all taxes for their negroes, and themselves, for five years.

These presents shall be registered at the government's office, as well as at the admiralty and domain, and published so as to be made known to every person.

Given at Port-Royal, Martinique, the twenty third day of July, 1783, under the seal of our arms, and the countersign of our secretaries.

Signed DAMAS and VIEVIGNE; and by Monsieur the General, signed BIOCHE, and by Monsieur the Ordinator, signed DE LEAU.

GENTLEMEN,

HAVING obeyed the call of my country, by entering into the army at the commencement of the revolution, and continued therein until the war was happily terminated by an honorable peace,

I now retire into private life, pleased with the reflection that my services have not been in vain, and inspired with hopes that a grateful country will enable me again to assume the character of a citizen, at least with as few embarrassments as when I laid it aside. Impressed with this idea, and encouraged by my friends, I hereby take the liberty of soliciting your votes at the ensuing election for the office of Sheriff, and I flatter myself that, should I succeed, you will not have occasion to blame yourselves for making me the object of your choice; as it will be my endeavour to pay a strict and constant attention to the several duties which shall present themselves to me in the execution of that office.

I am Gentlemen,

With every sentiment of esteem,

Your very humble servant,

STATE OF PENNSYLVANIA.

A SUPPLEMENT to an Act, entituled "An Act appointing Wardens for the Port of Philadelphia," and to the Act, entituled, "An Act to prevent infectious Diseases being brought into this Province."

WHEREAS it is of great importance to the interest of Pennsylvania, that her commerce should be increased and extended by promoting and facilitating a commercial intercourse with the neighbouring States, whereby the number and quantity of exportable articles may be increased: AND WHEREAS the imposing of a duty of tonnage and other port charges on coasting vessels, for every trip or voyage, equal to the duties and charges imposed on vessels performing longer and less frequent voyages, is found to be an impediment to such intercourse with the neighbouring States:

Be it therefore enacted, and it is hereby enacted by the Representatives of the Freemen of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in General Assembly met, and by the Authority of the same, That all ships and vessels, not exceeding the burthen or measurement of fifty tons, passing to or from any port within this State, and to or from any other port or ports within the United States of America, shall be freed and exempted from the payment of any duty of tonnage whatsoever; and that all other ships and vessels, passing in like manner between any port in this State and any other port or ports in the said United States, shall not be subject to the payment of the said duty more than once in every twelve months, during the continuance of any such ship or vessel in such trade, without going to any port not within the said United States, any thing contained in the said act, entituled "An Act appointing Wardens for the port of Philadelphia, and for other purposes therein mentioned," or any other law, usage or custom notwithstanding.

And be it further enacted by the Authority aforesaid, That any and every ship or vessel, employed in the coasting trade between this State and any other port of the said United States, and bringing into the port or ports of this State no other goods, wares or merchandize, than those of the growth, produce or manufacture of the said United States, or of some or one of them, and such as may lawfully be imported free from duty or impost by the laws of this State, shall be subject to the payment of seven shillings and six pence, and no more, for every entrance and clearance at the Naval-Office, any law, usage or custom to the contrary notwithstanding.

AND WHEREAS, from the freedom of commerce and the admission of foreign vessels, many ships or vessels may arrive in the river Delaware, the commanders or masters whereof may not be duly informed of the duties enjoined on them by the Act, entituled "An Act to prevent infectious diseases being brought into this province," and the penalties to which they may be subjected, by not conforming to the regulations prescribed in and by the said act:

Be it therefore enacted by the Authority aforesaid, That the Wardens for the time being, appointed by virtue of the said recited act, shall cause an abstract of the said act to be made, containing the substance of all such regulations and duties therein made and enjoined, as relate to the commanders, masters, or persons having charge of ships or vessels bound to the port of Philadelphia, and have a competent number of copies of such abstracts printed in the English, French and German languages, and distributed to and amongst the licenced Pilots, so as to enable each and every of the said Pilots to furnish and deliver one of the said copies to the commander or master of each and every inward bound vessel he shall take charge of.

And be it enacted by the Authority aforesaid, That it shall be the duty of each and every of the said Pilots, and the same is hereby enjoined, to deliver one of the said abstracts or copies to the commander or master of each and every inward bound ship or vessel he may take charge of as Pilot, or shall otherwise fully inform such commander or master of the nature and purport of the said regulations, and of the duties thereby enjoined; and such Pilot shall not presume to conduct such ship or vessel nearer to the city of Philadelphia than is consistent with the said regulations, on pain of being suspended from exercising the duties and receiving the emoluments of a Pilot for twelve months, and paying a fine of fifty pounds for every such offence, to be recovered and appropriated as is directed in and by the act to which this is a supplement.

And be it further enacted by the Authority aforesaid, That the ballast of any ship or vessel judged or deemed infectious under the act to which this is a supplement, shall not be brought up to the city of Philadelphia, the district of Southwark, or the Northern-Liberties, but the same shall be thrown out or discharged at such place as the Health Officer may direct and appoint, under penalty of one hundred pounds, to be recovered and appropriated as aforesaid.

An Additional Supplement to an Act, entituled "An Act for the regulation of the militia of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania."

WHEREAS, by the present militia laws of this State, the militia cannot be assembled in less time than three days after notice given: AND WHEREAS the peace and good order of government may be interrupted by sudden and dangerous tumults and riots, for the suppression of which the immediate aid of the militia may be expedient and necessary:

Be it therefore enacted, and it is hereby enacted by the Representatives of the Freemen of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in General Assembly met, and by the Authority of the same, That, from and after the publication of this act, it shall and may be lawful for the Supreme Executive Council, and they are hereby empowered, when it may be necessary and expedient for the support of the civil authority in preserving peace and good order within this Commonwealth, to order into immediate and actual service the whole or such part of the militia of the city of Philadelphia, or of any county or counties, as the exigency of the case may require.

FABIAN HAMERLY,

TAKES this method to inform the public, that he now occupies a shop in Elfrith's alley, near Second-street, where he carries on his business in the different branches of machinery, which he formerly learned in Europe, and has carried on the same in this country for these 8 years past, viz. first, making fire engines of all sorts and sizes; secondly, pumps of copper and lead, for the use of the brewers, distillers and sugar-boilers business; thirdly, engines to force the water out of any spring, well or pond, to convey it to any house or part in the house, or to any place wherever it is required to be led, even the distance of three or more miles; fourthly, he does invent fountains of all sorts for gentlemens gardens.

He also takes the liberty to recommend himself to gentlemen, merchants, commanders and masters of vessels, for plumbing of houses and vessels, as he learned that business in London of the best workmen in that metropolis. He therefore flatters himself to give general satisfaction in said branch of mechanism to his customers.

He likewise begs leave to solicit the custom of the respective fire-companies in this city, and its liberties, and offers to serve them in keeping their fire engines in good repair, for the most reasonable prices possible, namely; first, he will examine each engine every three months; secondly, every six months he will take them to pieces entirely, and fix them up again; thirdly, after every fire that may happen, he will deliver the engine back to its respective repository, at his own cost and charges; fourthly, all repairs (except the air vessel shall blow, or the branch pipe or gooseneck be lost, or the cistern be shattered, or the handles be broke, or the barrels be bursted) shall be done gratis; fifthly, he will always keep them clean, and well oiled.

I am, with due respect,
the public's most obedient humble servant,

A MESSAGE from THE PRESIDENT, and THE SUPREME EXECUTIVE COUNCIL, to THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

GENTLEMEN,

WE think it our duty, to lay before you an account of the late disturbances among the soldiery in this state.

On the 19th day of June, we received the inclosed letters from Col. Richard Butler, and William Henry, Esq; of Lancaster, and immediately transmitted them by our Delegates to Congress.

In the conference with the committee appointed on these letters, some of them proposed the stopping the soldiery from Lancaster by a detachment from the militia, to be instantly called out. We informed the committee that Lieutenant Butler, who brought the late dispatches, had represented to us, that the soldiers had behaved very regularly upon their march---that they said they were coming to have their accounts settled---that they must then be near the town---and that it was very improbable a sufficient force could be collected in time to intercept them.

The case appeared so delicate and difficult, that the committee themselves seemed to doubt the propriety of opposing the soldiers by force, and compelling them to return; and one of them said, that "in all cases, in which he could not determine precisely what to do, it was a maxim with him, that the better way was to do nothing."

On the same day orders were issued from the War-office, that these soldiers should be received into the barracks, and supplied with rations.

On Saturday, the 21st of June, a party of 30 armed soldiers marched from their quarters in the barracks, and parading before the State-House, where we were then met in Council, sent up to us by the Secretary, the following message in writing:

"May it please your Excellency,

"WE, the non-commissioned officers and soldiers now in this city, demand of you, and the honorable Council, authority to appoint commissioned officers to command us, and redress our grievances, which officers to have full power to adopt such measures as they may judge most likely to procure us justice. You will immediately issue such authority, and deliver it to us, or otherwise we shall instantly let in those injured soldiers upon you, and abide by the consequence. You have only twenty minutes to deliberate upon this important matter. The officers in general have forsaken us, and refuse to take any further command. This I presume you all know. We are, in behalf of ourselves and the men, Yours, &c. &c."

The immediate object of this message, the terms in which it was expressed, and the further design of the insurgents to procure a sanction for their future proceedings, by an authority to be derived from us, determined us unanimously to resolve, that "the demands contained in it should be rejected."

In the mean time a larger number of soldiers in arms advanced, and soon joined their companions, making in the whole a body of about 300 men of the Pennsylvania line, under the direction of serjeants. They paraded also before the State-House, a party of 15 or 20 men took post in the yard, opposite the south windows of the Council-Chamber, and centinels were fixed at the doors of the State-House, but people still kept continually going out and coming in without being stopped by them.

We remained in the Council-Chamber for more than an hour after the receipt of the message before-mentioned, and then sent the Secretary to enquire, if that message to the Council was approved by the soldiers in general. He reported to us, that he was answered insolently by some of the leaders, "it was approved by them, and that we should soon hear more from them."

While these things passed, most of the members of Congress assembled, but not in sufficient number to form a Congress. That honorable body stood adjourned from Friday till the following Monday, Saturday being a day of usual recess; but upon the alarm, the members were specially summoned by their President to meet, and at the place to which the soldiers were moving. For what purpose they were so summoned, we have not been informed.

To these gentlemen the President of this Board went, and communicated the message of the soldiery, and the resolution of Council. He then returned to the Council-Chamber. No farther measure was decided upon till Major General St. Clair came up, and expressed his hopes that the soldiers might be prevailed upon to return peaceably to their quarters, if Council would consent to a conference with a committee of either commissioned or deranged officers, to be appointed by them, on the state of their affairs. The President of this Board again went to the Congress room, and asked the President of Congress, in the presence of several other members, if it was agreeable to them that Council should hold the conference proposed through General St. Clair. He was answered by the President, that they most chearfully agreed to Council's holding such conference; for that he, and the members of Congress, had empowered General St. Clair to settle the matter with the soldiers, in such manner as he should judge most proper." *

We assented to the proposal. About three o'clock the members of Congress left the State-House. We have heard that their President was stopped for a few moments in Chesnut-street by some soldiers; but, that one of the leading serjeants coming up, apologized for what had happened, reproved the soldiers, and took them away.

We continued in Council till four o'clock, when the soldiers were on their return to the barracks.

That evening Colonel Hamilton and Mr. Elsworth, of a committee of Congress, called upon the President, and read to him a resolution which had been just passed by that honorable body. The President then told them, he would summon a Council to take it into consideration, and to confer with the committee the next morning at nine o'clock. We met accordingly at the President's house, on Sunday, June the 22d, and the following resolution was read to us by the committee.

By the United States in Congress assembled, June 21, 1783.

Resolved, That the President and Supreme Executive Council of Pennsylvania be informed, that the authority of the United States having this day been grossly insulted, by the disorderly and menacing appearance of a body of armed soldiers about the place in which Congress were assembled, and the peace of this city being endangered by the mutinous disposition of the said troops now in the barracks, it is in the opinion of Congress necessary that effectual measures be immediately taken for supporting the public authority.

* Several members of Congress say, that Gen. St. Clair was called into the Congress room, and, as well as the members can recollect, addressed by the President in these words--- "Sir,--- You are empowered by the members of Congress here present, to go among the soldiers, and take such measures as you shall judge most proper."

be directed to confer without loss of time with the Supreme Executive Council of Pennsylvania, on the practicability of carrying the preceding resolution into effect.

The committee then gave us this explanation, as they termed it, of the foregoing resolution---"By effectual measures, Congress mean that the militia of the State be immediately called forth, in sufficient force to reduce the soldiers to obedience, disarm, and put them in the power of Congress."

We observed that this was indeed a matter of great moment, and to obtain the desired effect, without producing unhappy consequences, must be conducted with much prudence---that to call the militia into service, without an assurance of a sufficient force being immediately collected, would be an act of irritation that might provoke the soldiery to excesses, which they otherwise might decline---that we would take immediate steps, by consulting the Colonels of the regiments of militia, for discovering the disposition of the militia, and the state of preparation in which they were; in order to ascertain the practicability of adopting the "effectual measures" recommended by Congress, in such a manner as would give a reasonable expectation of success---that the State magazine was in the hands of the soldiers, and the commissary of military stores had but a very inconsiderable quantity of fixed ammunition in his possession---that difficulties might arise from the militia law itself,---that in the present situation of affairs, delay was of the greatest advantage to us, as the soldiers were ready to act---that they had put themselves in a train of negotiation, which, if properly improved by us, might afford us opportunity to prepare every thing for reducing them, and to avail ourselves of every circumstance that might occur for making proper impressions upon their minds---that this was not so much to be considered as an insurrection of citizens of Pennsylvania, as a mutiny of continental troops---that if the rest of the army, or a sufficient part of them, could be relied on, it appeared to us adviseable, that intelligence of this disturbance should be immediately dispatched to the Commander in Chief, and a body of men put in motion towards this city---that this measure might in a few days have a very favourable effect upon the soldiers, or, if they should take any resolution from despair, on receiving notice of it, we should then be in a better condition to resist their outrages---and that we would immediately make every effort in our power to answer the wishes of Congress.

The committee replied, that there was great weight in these observations---that prudence required that means should be used for ascertaining the temper of the citizens, and what degree of assurance might be placed in their exertions---that this should be done with profound secrecy, to prevent the soldiery from discovering what was in agitation---that if, upon making all the enquiry which might be consistent with the secrecy with which this business should be conducted, Council should not think it practicable to draw forth an adequate force immediately, it would be more adviseable, and entirely the sense of Congress, that none should be drawn forth---for Congress were determined to proceed by coercion, and expected soon to have a force that could be depended on---that the army might be relied on, and that proper representations had been made to the Commander in Chief---that as to the want of ammunition, we might be assured, that we could be supplied with any quantity of musquet and cannon cartridge in fifteen minutes, one of the committee having pointed his enquiries to that subject, and his information being derived from a person whose business it was to know.---We then desired that the ammunition mentioned by the committee might be secured, lest it might be discovered and seized by the soldiers.----The committee agreed to confer with us again next morning, and then withdrew.*

After the committee had withdrawn, we Resolved, That every member of Council should use the utmost diligence to inform himself, as to the practicability of collecting a sufficient force immediately to carry the resolution of Congress into execution, and that the commanding officers of regiments, and Capt. Morris, of the light-horse, should be consulted on the subject.

The next morning, Monday, June 23d, we met in the Council-Chamber, and the President laid before Council the following letter:

"SIR, Philadelphia, June 23, 1783.

"We have the honor to inclose for your Excellency and the Council, a copy of the resolutions communicated in our conference yesterday. Having then fully entered into all the explanations which were necessary on the subject, we shall not trouble your Excellency with a recapitulation. But as the subject is of a delicate and important nature, we think it our duty to request the determination of the Council in writing. We have the honor to be, with perfect respect,

Your Excellency's most obedient servants,

A. HAMILTON."

After considering this letter, and agreeing to a resolution upon it, the committee came in.---We began the conference by saying, that we had used all the industry we could the preceding day and that morning, to inform ourselves as to the practicability of collecting a sufficient force immediately to carry the resolutions of Congress into execution in the best manner; and that all the commanding officers of regiments, except one, had been consulted by us on that subject---that the result of our enquiries was, that the citizens were impressed with an opinion of the pacific disposition of the soldiery in the barracks, and that they would be satisfied with what was just and reasonable----that the officers also declared the militia were not prepared for service, and that it would be very imprudent to call them into immediate action, under these impressions, and in such a situation.

We desired the committee would be pleased to consider the difficulties under which we labored, in collecting and equipping a sufficient body of men upon such an occasion, and that time might be allowed for communicating the proper information, and urging the proper motives, to bring the minds of our fellow citizens into a correspondence with the views of Congress, and for preparing them to act---that to make an attempt too hastily, for the purpose of executing their resolution, or to give assurances that it should be executed, without a reasonable persuasion that we should not be mistaken, would, instead of evidencing our reverence for Congress----be to betray them----that therefore we should confide in the candor of the committee, and in the magnanimity of Congress, to put a just construction upon our conduct ---that the soldiers had behaved very peaceably since Saturday, had appointed their committee to confer with us, and seemed to rely upon the negotiation which they had been induced to commence, with the concurrence of the President and the members of Congress themselves, who had sent General St. Clair to treat with them, and which we had agreed to proceed in, with the approbation and advice of the President of Congress, and the members who had been spoken to on the occasion---that in this state of affairs, any movement to collect the militia might be regarded by the soldiery as an act of treachery, and, unless it should be rapid and efficient, would at once expose Congress, Council, and our fellow citizens ---and endanger the city.

That as to the letter of the committee, "requesting the determination of the Council in writing," it appeared to us an unusual mode of proceeding in conferences between committees of Congress and the Council of this State---that this mode did not seem to be intended by Congress---that if they had made the request, we should cheerfully have granted it---if they should now make it, we should not hesitate a moment to comply-----that we had received a verbal and most important explanation of the resolution delivered by them, fully confiding in the honor of those by whom it was given---and that if the committee were apprehensive of any mistake, they might reduce our answer to writing immediately, and we would repeat the several parts of it, to prevent any error.

The committee said, they were sensible of the difficulties that occurred----that they did not mean that the conference intended between Council and the committee of the soldiery should be prevented --that collecting an adequate force in readiness to act would not be inconsistent with this procedure----that as to the consequences of such an attempt being made, and not immediately succeeding, it was suggested, that even small bodies of militia might seize certain points, where resistance could be made until the rest of the citizens should come to their aid----that as to our answer, they acknowledged we had through this whole business acted with great candour towards them, but they conceived themselves clearly justifiable in requesting our determination in writing, and instanced the case of inferior and accountable officers, who often ask and find m are denied such an answer----and that the reason was much stronger that it should be given to a committee of Congress. We, having before expressed our sentiments on the other points, only observed as to the last, that in our opinion the case mentioned did not apply----that it might be very proper for responsible officers to ask for answers in writing, to justify themselves to their superiors, and a generous condescension in the persons from whom they were solicited would induce them to comply---but, the committee were a part of the body representing the sovereignty of the United States, and we had the honor of representing the sovereignty of this State---that conferences, especially between persons vested with such authorities, were intended to obtain a free and full communication of sentiments, without the intervention of writing---and that no inconvenience could be apprehended from proceeding in this usual method, as each party could rely upon the integrity of the other. The committee withdrew, and the Council rose.

In this unhappy affair we found ourselves extremely distressed. On one side, we were urged by the Representatives of the United States to draw forth and employ the citizens in immediate hostilities against the soldiers, while, on the other hand, the citizens considered them as objects of compassion, rather than of terror or resentment. They could not bear to avenge the dignity of Congress, accidentally and undesignedly offended, by shedding the blood of men whom they considered as having fought and suffered for the American cause; and perhaps the world may be disposed to ballance the charge of impolicy in this conduct, by giving credit for the humanity of such a behaviour.

We met again in the evening at the President's house; and in order to make particular communications, we directed the Lieutenants of the city and county, all the field officers of the militia in the city and neighbourhood, and Captain Morris of the light horse, to be convened to meet us at the State-House next morning, at ten o'clock.

Accordingly, on Tuesday the 24th, we met in the Assembly-Room, Colonels Shee, Eyre, Knox, Marsh, Read, Will, Dean, Henry, Coates,---Majors Rees, Brown, Casdrop, M'Cullough, Boyd, and Panqueke, and Captain Morris-----only one field officer being absent.

We laid before these gentlemen the message we had received on Saturday from the soldiery, and our own resolution thereon, with the resolution of Congress passed on that day---We informed them, that the committee of Congress had in a conference explained the said resolution, by saying, that by the "effectual measures therein mentioned, Congress meant a call of the militia into actual service, and their exertions in consequence of such a call----that there was reason to believe Congress would remove from this State, unless they should receive assurances from us, that they might rely upon the effectual measures intended by the said resolution being immediately taken for supporting the public authority"---- that as to the want of ammunition that had been mentioned, the objection was happily removed, we having been assured by one of the committee of Congress, that we could be supplied with any quantity of musquet and cannon cartridge in fifteen minutes. We therefore desired the officers present to give us their sentiments on the practicability of assembling the militia, in such a manner as might effect the purposes of the resolution before mentioned, and also in what manner a guard of 500 men could be most quickly collected for immediate defence, to be relieved by the militia, in consequence of a call for the service proposed. In the course of this conference it was asked, whether some kind of negotiation had not taken place? We mentioned what had passed on that head. After some time we retired to the Council-Chamber.

Soon after we came into the Chamber, one of the committee of Congress entered, and informed the President, that he thought himself bound to give him notice of a great mistake that had been committed by the person, from whom he had received his intelligence concerning the ammunition, that person having, in a late conversation, told him there were not more than 200 musquet cartridges to be found. The President took this opportunity of again desiring, that Council might not be precipitated into measures not adapted to the present circumstances---that the soldiers had now been quiet for three days,---and we expected every hour to hear from their committee. The gentleman said, that no report in writing had yet been made to Congress, and that for his part he should be for taking some time to make it, for the reasons that had been mentioned.

In about an hour after we had left the officers, we returned into the Assembly-Room to them, and Colonel Shee speaking for the company, declared it to be their opinion---"that it would be imprudent to make any call of militia at present, as they were convinced it would be ineffectual---that if the negotiation for settling the disturbance should not succeed, and the soldiers should insist on unjust and unreasonable things, or should commit any outrage, they would be willing to make all the exertions in their power for preserving the peace and supporting public authority, and would use their utmost influence for disposing the minds of all under their commands, and of their other fellow-citizens, to join in such measures."

We then directed, that the officers should have their respective commands as well prepared as could be for action on the shortest notice, which they promised to do; and we are persuaded, that if the occasion for commencing hostilities had a peared as pressing to the militia, as it did to some, they would have acted with the same spirit that has always distinguished them, whenever in their judgment the object claimed their exertions.

Before the Council adjourned, we received the following letter and inclosure from the committee appointed by the soldiers.

"SIR, Philadelphia, June 24, 1783.

"Yesterday morning we were waited on severally by a committee of serjeants, who handed to each of us similar appointments, of which the inclosed is one. But upon their being objected to and refused, as inconsistent with the powers granted them, and dishonorable to us, they made such concessions relative to us as were satisfactory, so far as we could take up the business, and they have confessed their conduct on the twenty-first instant to be disorderly, and have promised to hand in to us their concessions as soon as possible, which we will immediately lay before your Excellency. I have the honor to be,

Your Excellency's most obedient humble servant,

"SIR, Philadelphia Barracks, June 23, 1783.

"You are hereby appointed by the non-commissioned officers and soldiers in this city, from authority which they have from the President of the State and General St. Clair, as a member to represent them in committee of six commissioned officers. You are to remember that every effort in your power must be exerted to bring about the most speedy and ample justice, and even to use compulsive measures, should they be found necessary, which we declare in the presence of Almighty God we will support you in, to the very utmost of our power. Should you shew a disposition not to do all in yours, death is inevitably your fate.

Signed, by order of the Board

JAMES BENNET, Secretary.

Captain JAMES CHRYSTIE."

Council rose, and soon afterwards we received intelligence that Congress was adjourned, by their President, to meet at Princeton on the Thursday following.

That evening we met again at the President's house, upon advice that the soldiers meditated an attack upon the Bank. We resolved, that a strong guard should be immediately collected, and so posted as best to secure that important object; and as several field officers attended, they immediately, and with the greatest alacrity, employed themselves in the business. The President, Vice-President and General Irvine directed Captain Stiles, the commissary of military stores, to try the next day if he could not get some fixed ammunition out of the State magazine, in removing powder that was private property. He did, and, through the pacific or careless disposition of the guard of soldiers, got out a considerable quantity, and distributed it as ordered in proper places.

Wednesday, the 25th, we were informed that the soldiers were in a very tumultuous disposition----and that there was reason to apprehend it would rise into some violence, as their rations would be stopped on the Friday following. We therefore came to the following resolutions:

In Council, Philadelphia, June 25, 1783.

Ordered, That the Lieutenant of the city militia, &c. be directed to call forth a guard of 100 privates, with such number of officers as he may think proper, as a measure indispensibly and immediately necessary to secure government from insult, the state from disturbance, and the city from injury. Carpenters-Hall is assigned for the place of meeting.

Resolved, That the different officers commanding regiments be requested to hold their respective commands in immediate readiness for action. It is expected also that they will meet this day as soon as possible, for the purposes of determining the places of and signals for rendezvous. A report of their proceedings to be made to the President.

Resolved, That the Commissary of military stores be directed to issue such public arms and ammunition, as he may now have under his direction, to the militia of the city and liberties, upon application of the different officers commanding regiments.

While the clerk was copying these resolutions, Capts. Chrystie and Symonds, two of the committee of the soldiery, presented to us the three papers inclosed, marked No. 1, 2 and 3. These being read, it was unanimously Resolved, "That Council will not even take the proposals now made by the soldiers into consideration, unless they first put themselves under the command of their officers, and make full and satisfactory submission to Congress."

This resolution was then communicated to Capts. Chrystie and Symonds, and they, being informed that it was our unalterable determination, were directed to communicate the same as such to the soldiers.

They assured us this should be immediately done, but that the soldiers did not think they had offended Congress, as their intention on Saturday was only to apply to Council. They then proceeded to what was and probably would be the temper of the troops upon receiving this answer of Council, and entreated us to take all the measures that we possibly could for our own safety, and that of the city, as every thing licentious was to be apprehended. On this intelligence, Council ordered the guard to be increased to 500 privates.

We then adjourned, and were severally employed in engaging the militia, and citizens in general, to take arms immediately. Our fixed resolution, insisting on a submission to Congress---the call of the militia---the excellent behaviour of the officers of our line in general---the industry and address of Col. Humpton, in representing to the serjeants then in town the dangers that surrounded them by these operations---and intelligence that part of the army was in motion towards this city---with a circumstance that happened very opportunely---threw them into confusion. The circumstance was this:----A Capt. Carberry, deranged, and a Lieut. Sullivan, two of the committee appointed by the soldiers, and the principal instigators of the disturbance, were so much alarmed at the measures taken and the accounts circulated, that they thought proper to fly. They first wrote a billet to Mr. William Huston, another of the Committee, and Adjutant of Col. Humpton's regiment, in these words---"Consult your own safety, we cannot get to you. H. C.--------J. S."

This note, by some mistake, was delivered to Capt. Chrystie. He and Capt. Symonds went with it to Col. Humpton. He and the Captains came to the President's, and brought the serjeants. At first the construction was doubtful; but in a short time it was judged, that the meaning was agreeable to the facts just stated. Col. Humpton proposed his going to the barracks with the serjeants, who had impeached Capt. Carberry and Lieut. Sullivan, and were now in a proper disposition to second his measures. He did so, and some citizens went to assist, by advising the soldiers to behave prudently in the present exigency. After some time, they were prevailed upon to leave their arms under a guard at the barracks, to come to the President's, and hear what he should say to them. They came, and paraded before his house. He addressed them on the subject of their late and present behaviour ---insisted on their giving a further evidence of their good disposition, and of their dutiful submission to the offended majesty of

* The committee of Congress, in their report, have fallen into several mistakes by confounding facts and sentiments, and representing them as happening or expressed at times when they had not happened, or were not expressed. These mistakes were owing no doubt to the quick succession of circumstances, and the ideas that, without noticing dates, in consequence took possession of the mind.

The obvious construction of the first report is, that the committee informed Council of the letter to Congress from the board of serjeants, though not a single member of Council, nor the secretary, has any remembrance of its being mentioned by them, nor does any member of Council now know what that message was. The argument annexed to it in the report is no more recollected.

The committee say, that Council informed them "the exertions of the militia were not to be expected from a repetition of the insult which had happened." Though the Council only said, they could not be sure that such another insult would produce those exertions.

In short, to shew the extreme inaccuracy with which these reports, to be entered upon the minutes of Congress, and preserved among the archives of the empire, have been composed, it is necessary only to attend to that part where the committee say, they represented to Council "that Congress would probably continue to pursue the object of having the soldiers in their power, unless it should be superceded by unequivocal demonstrations of submission on the part of the mutineers-----that they had hitherto given no satisfactory evidence of this disposition, having lately presented the officers they had chosen to represent their grievances with a formal commission in writing, enjoining them if necessary to use compulsory means for redress, and menacing them with death in case of their failing to execute their views."

The conference, in which the committee say they made this representation, was held according to their own report on the twenty-third of June. It began at 10 o'clock in the morning. The commission from the mutineers to the officers bears date, and was presented to the officers on that day, about 8 o'clock in the morning. It is highly improbable that the committee should have discovered its contents, in the two hours that intervened between its being presented, and their meeting the Council; and the improbability is increased by this circumstance, that not a member who was in Council knew any thing of the commission, nor remembers to have heard a single syllable respecting it mentioned by the committee during the whole conference. The first knowledge Council had of the commission was on the twenty-fourth, when they received the letter from Captain Chrystie, and that same day they sent a copy of it to Congress by their Secretary.

The United States, by compelling the ſoldiers lately arrived from Lancaſter to lay down their arms, or begin their march for that place, under the command of their officers, at the end of twenty-four hours, unleſs in that time thoſe unhappy men ſhould return to a ſenſe of their duty. At the concluſion of the addreſs, they were ordered to repair to the barracks, under the command of their officers then preſent, and behave themſelves as ſoldiers ought to do. They inſtantly obeyed.

The next day, at twelve o'clock, the ſoldiers from Lancaſter ſubmitted, and ſoon after began their march for that borough.

The Preſident immediately communicated accounts of theſe tranſactions to the Preſident of Congreſs, in the three letters incloſed. The papers relating to the ſubſequent proceedings are herewith tranſmitted.

Thus, Gentlemen, we have laid before you a faithful narrative of this affair, compoſed and examined while every circumſtance was exactly remembered by us, and the Secretary will deliver to you the original papers on which it is principally founded. We have had great difficulties to encounter, but have been enabled to purſue that tenor of conduct which we have held, by the perfect unanimity that ſubſiſted among us thro' every ſtage of this buſineſs.

We recollected the high truſt repoſed in us by our country. The honor and tranquility of the ſtate, and the lives and property of our fellow-citizens, were involved in our deliberations. We could never conſent to commit theſe pledges of the public confidence, ſome of them ſo invaluable and revered, to the dangers neceſſarily reſulting from haſty and violent meaſures.

While thus attentive to the intereſts of the ſtate and our fellow-citizens, we have cheerfully expoſed ourſelves to every hazard that could ariſe from a firmneſs of oppoſition to the demands of a mutinous ſoldiery. We daily and regularly aſſembled in the Council-Chamber in our uſual manner, and determinately rejected every propoſal inconſiſtent with our characters and the public good. It is true, we have been inſulted; but the follies or the faults of others cannot diminiſh the dignity of thoſe, who take care not to impair it by any unworthy actions of their own.

Upon the whole, with grateful acknowledgments to the Divine Goodneſs, we ſincerely rejoice that ſuch a diſturbance was quieted, without our making a ſingle improper conceſſion, and without coſting the life of one citizen of Pennſylvania.

JOHN DICKINSON.

COUNCIL-CHAMBER,
Philadelphia, Auguſt 19, 1783.

A Correſpondent remarks, that tho' the Council has not thought proper to take notice of it in their foregoing meſſage, yet every man, who attentively reads the report of the committee of Congreſs to that honorable body, cannot but obſerve, that in the whole of that report NO MENTION IS MADE, that the Council was met in the State-houſe when the ſoldiers aſſembled there on Saturday, the 21ſt of June; nor, that the ſoldiers then came to that place for the ſole purpoſe of applying to the Council; nor, that they did then actually apply to the Council only.

Another circumſtance is very extraordinary. The committee expreſly ſtate in their report, that in the conference on Monday, the 23d of June, the Council had repreſented to them---- "that from the ſteps which had been taken, the buſineſs ſeemed to be in a train of negotiation, and that it merited conſideration, how far it would be prudent to terminate the matter in that way, rather than employ coercive meaſures."

The committee then go on, after a few lines, to report their anſwer to this obſervation in theſe words--- "And with reſpect to the policy of coercion, the committee remarked, that the meaſures takea by Congreſs clearly indicated their opinion, that the exceſſes of the mutineers had paſſed the bounds within which a ſpirit of compromiſe might conſiſt with the dignity, and even the ſafety of government"----tho' at that very moment a conference was expected between the Council and the committee of the ſoldiery, in conſequence of a propoſal that originated from the members of Congreſs, and afterwards poſitively and warmly approved by them.

Extract of a letter from Charleſtown, South-Carolina, dated September 10, 1783.

"By this favorable opportunity I have incloſed you ſome of the lateſt papers printed here, although they contain nothing new or intereſting. I cannot but at the ſame time regret that we are entirely barren of news, every thing being in peace; but how long this will laſt here God knows; for, at the laſt ſitting of our Legiſlature they paſſed an edict, ordering all perſons who are not citizens, and in the compact with the Governor and merchants, to be baniſhed by the firſt of October next. Among many of theſe are numbers of thoſe people who, when the Engliſh were here, did every thing in their power to diſtreſs all thoſe who were known to be our ſteady friends; and yet, notwithſtanding their cruelty to us, they are daily petitioning to ſtay among us; but I am convinced that our Governor and Council will compel them to be gone by the time fixed in the law."

A letter from Charleſtown, of Sept. 9, ſays, "we have juſt received information of a violent hurricane at St. Auguſtine, by which ſeveral houſes were overſet and a number of veſſels driven on ſhore; among them was a London ſhip with a great number of Carolina refugees, all of whom periſhed. The rain and ſome of the wind reached this place, by which the weather is made ſo cold that every houſe in Charleſtown has a fire."

NOTICE to all who are indebted to JACOB FOSTER, or the partnerſhip of JACOB and JAMES FOSTER, late of Mount-Holly, merchants, to come without delay to JOSEPH READ, of ſaid place, attorney at law (with whom their obligations and accounts are left) to diſcharge the ſame.

As the ſaid Meſſrs. Foſters have removed into the ſtate of New-York, and have repeatedly notified their debtors to make payment, ſuch as are now delinquents are not to expect any further indulgence. Sept. 18, 1783. ¶
